BEACH RENOURISHED: LaCross Dredging company has completed pumping 200,000 cubic yards of sand from bottom of Lake Michigan on northside of breakwaters at New Buffalo harbor to area on southside of breakwaters as part of beach renourishment project. Project was deemed needed because breakwaters cause sand buildup on northside while, at same time, erosion of sand on southside. Harbor breakwater and renourishment projects were financed by federal, state and local funds. (Adolph Hann aerial photo)

South Havenite's Friend Gets Half $200,000 Prize

By TOM RENNER
South Haven Correspondent

SOUTH HAVEN — George Compton, a South Haven bachelor, is honoring a promise he made in jest to a friend last summer that he would share half of anything he might win on a free Michigan lottery ticket.

Last Thursday that ticket, received free with a purchase of gasoline, paid off to the tune of $200,000 to Compton.

He's going to share his wealth with a friend and business associate, Lowell Swenson, of Arlington Heights, Ill., who was with him when Compton got the lucky ticket at a Detroit gas station. Each man will get $10,000 a year for the next 10 years.

"I told Lowell I would split any of my winnings from the ticket with him. I had never won before and really said it in jest but we have been friends for a long time and I'm happy to be able to share my windfall with him," said Compton Sunday.

The 48-year-old bachelor had just spent much of the day Sunday mowing the lawn at his parents' 40-acre Casco township Centennial farm.

And today it was back to work as usual as a field engineer for the Montgomery Ward company.

Compton said he hasn't decided how he will spend his share of the winnings, but he indicated he was considering buying a cabin cruiser.

Compton said he has a lottery ticket subscription which allows him to play the same two numbers in every weekly drawing.

He said he almost didn't realize that he had a winner, noting that he came across the ticket a few days after the drawing and decided to check it, "just in case."

"I had to get our old newspapers out of the trash compactor to locate the numbers. When I saw the drawing numbers matched my ticket I knew I had something, but I wasn't sure what," he said.

Compton said he started calling area lottery agents to find out what his good fortune might be. Since it was evening it took a while until he located a store that was open and was told he had won at least $10,000.

Compton said he doesn't expect his new wealth to change his lifestyle. He also noted that he was glad that the payment would come in annual installments "because the government takes so much away from single people as it is."

Compton said he didn't realize the odds against winning a lottery prize until after talking with lottery officials at Thursday's drawing.

"I might never have played the game if I'd known the tremendous odds, except for the free tickets of course," he chuckled.

AND LIFE GOES ON: George Compton, latest winner of $200,000 in Michigan's weekly lottery, cuts grass at parent's farm yesterday and was to be back at work today. Rural South Havenite was first in either Allegan or Van Buren counties to win big prize and gave no indication that windfall would change his lifestyle. (Tom Renner photo)

Police Arrest 100 Today In Boston

BOSTON (AP) — More than 100 persons were arrested today, mostly charged with disorderly conduct, on the first day of classes under a new and extensive busing program designed to integrate the nation's oldest public school system.

Police Department spokesman Steve Dunleavy said about 40 of those arrested were believed to be members of the protesting Committee Against Racism. They were taken into custody in the predominantly white Irish neighborhood of South Boston before schools opened this morning.

School officials said attendance was generally good, but no figures were available on how many of Boston's 75,000 public school children had reported.

Some 25,000 pupils were being bused to schools outside their own neighborhoods in the integration program ordered by a federal judge earlier this year.

At least 1,500 policemen and 100 U.S. marshals were guarding bus routes and school areas, and police riflemen were stationed on rooftops near Charlestown High School this morning.

Police officials said about 98 per cent of the officers assigned to duty reported for work this morning, indicating an apparent end to the Boston Police Patrolmen's Association sick-out which began Saturday to protest what members termed "flagrant contract violations" by the city.

National Guardsmen were called into the city Sunday and were stationed in South Boston on Sunday night to assist police in maintaining an orderly opening of schools in case the sickout continued.

About 45 minutes after classes were scheduled to begin today, buses pulled up to South Boston, Hyde Park, Charlestown and Roxbury high schools.

The buses that were to carry children from the white Irish Charlestown section into the predominantly black section of Roxbury were empty. Buses carrying black pupils into South Boston and into white, middleclass Hyde Park arrived and unloaded without incident, and those buses were generally less than one-third full.

Some crowds gathered several blocks from high schools in all four sections. Racial violence erupted last year in South Boston, Hyde Park and Roxbury, but Charlestown is being integrated this year for the first time.

About 300 persons gathered in front of the South Boston building in which Guardsmen were lodged Sunday night and hurled rocks, beer cans, sticks and boards at the Guardsmen. One suffered a minor leg injury, and one person was arrested for disorderly conduct.

There were large demonstrations and repeated stoning of school buses when classes began last year under a temporary program that called for the busing of 17,000 pupils and left many of those neighborhoods untouched.

Louisville Buses Nearly Empty

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Armed National Guard troops and police rode nearly empty school buses today as classes resumed in Jefferson County after four days of noisy and sometimes violent antibusing protests.

Despite the guards, attendance was reported down sharply at several schools. Many buses carrying white children to schools in the southern part of the county were nearly empty. Buses bringing black children, however, were reported nearly full.

Supt. Ernest C. Grayson said 95 buses did not make runs because drivers did not show up or else there wasn't sufficient gasoline to operate the vehicles, adding that this affected 16 per cent of the countywide fleet.

Grayson said some service stations refused to sell gasoline to bus drivers.

He added that there were reports that some drivers had been threatened. He added that normally a pool of 70 to 75 drivers would be in reserve but because of last-minute resignations and terminations, there were practically no additional people to turn to.

U.S. District Court Judge James F. Gordon on Sunday ordered the police and Guardsmen to ride the buses following four days of violence in which an estimated 200 persons have been injured and about 300 arrested.

"We attempted to be tolerant when marches threatened peaceable assemblies," said Gordon, who ordered the busing. "However, violent disregard of law and order, assault on officers, conduct calculated to frighten children, alarm their parents and threaten bus drivers made it necessary for us to abolish protest areas, forbid assembly in unlawful numbers and places and to take such further precautions as necessary for the safety of the children of this community."

Todd Hollenbach, the county's chief executive, said in a Sunday night telecast that he is abandoning a policy of restraint. He blamed the problems on the Ku Klux Klan, outsiders and "the frustrated and the drunken," and said authorities would "move swiftly with as much force as is necessary to maintain public order."

Winning Number

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The winning number in the Michigan Daily Lottery contest for Monday, Sept. 8, is 319 (three-one-nine), the state Lottery Bureau said today.

Anglers Curse Soggy Threesome

Three fishermen whose boat swamped Sunday in Lake Michigan told the St. Joseph Coast Guard that several boats refused to offer them assistance before two unidentified boaters picked them up. Robert Morgan, 336 Apple avenue, Coloma, told Coast Guardsmen that some fishermen actually cursed them as they tried to get help in getting out of the choppy water after their boat sank about a half mile west of the St. Joseph piers about 8 a.m. Morgan and two friends, Jim Elabrenner of Watervliet and William Scott of Coloma were fishing from Morgan's 15-foot outboard-powered boat when a wave swamped the craft, sinking it in about a minute. Morgan said "several boats trolled by without offering assistance and one complained about how we were fouling their (fishing) lines."

Farm Wives Say Meany Just That

Mrs. Laura Heuser, of Hartford and nine other farm women from across the U.S. intend to hand AFL-CIO President George Meany a grain shovel in his Washington offices this week and tell him to "get loading those ships."

According to an article in today's Chicago Tribune, the farm wives are up in arms over Meany's endorsement of a boycott of Russian-bound grain ships by the International Longshoremen's association. "The utter arrogance of this man, Meany, is beyond belief," said Mrs. Wallace Heuser, an orchardist's wife from Hartford, Mich. "No man should have the kind of power he has over the American farmer and consumer."

And what do the women propose to do about it?

"For one thing, we're going to present Meany with a grain shovel and a message to get to loading those ships," Mrs. Heuser said. "We're going to direct public attention to how he is shafting the consumer and

Were it left to me to decide whether we should have government without newspapers or newspapers without government, I should not hesitate to prefer the latter. — Thomas Jefferson.

Britain's Health Mess Has Message For U.S.

The National Health Service, which has given the British free medical and dental care for a generation, is now in deep trouble. Over the past year the service has been hit by the spiraling costs of inflation, by a rash of strikes, a governmental reorganization, a shortage of doctors, and finally by severe budgetary cutbacks. So precipitous has the decline of funds been that many members of the British Medical Association fear that proper health care standards can no longer be maintained.

The Labor government has warned that the Health Service is indeed in for a lean financial period. A 10 per cent cut in the $10 billion a year health budget has been ordered. This means that fewer services will be available and that more doctors will emigrate abroad.

More than half a million Britons are waiting for minor operations ranging from hernias to the removal of tonsils. However, because the waiting time is now lengthening, nearly three million people have taken out private health insurance policies so that they can get treatment in private clinics. The Labor government is worried that this is draining away talented doctors and staff from the already-short public sector.

It isn't the place of a U.S. Midwest editorialist to tell the British what to do. But their plight has a couple of lessons for America:

First, when Britain adopted its public health program in 1948, it was supposed to have improved the population's health. A recent survey indicates there is little difference now than then.

Second, prodded by leftist intellectuals, not a few of the free-wheeling spenders in the U.S. Congress are flirting with the idea of socialized medicine for this country. They don't call it that; the phrase is too unpopular. But their plans add up to the same thing—a federally-controlled system like Britain's.

Well, in view of the British disaster, isn't it about time for the American meddlers to back off? Or get chased off?

Sure, there are problems with the distribution of American medicine. But the quality is the highest in the world, and the distribution system, relatively, is probably darn near as good. If you ask the people who are served and not the ideologic reformers, that is.

New York City Dusting Off The Domino Theory

The latest flak in New York City's insolvency is for the proponents of a federal rescue for Mayor Beame's beleaguered situation to say that if the town defaults it will pull the U.S. down with it.

The interesting fact in the argument is that the very people who scored the domino theory as applied to Southeast Asia are pulling it down from the shelf to prop up rather than to strengthen the worst municipal administration to be found in the 50 states.

The domino theory, first voiced by Dean Rusk and Robert MacNamara, the two most influential cabinet members in the Kennedy administration, held that if the Communists take over one country all others bordering it will also succumb.

Though 1974 developments confirmed the Rusk-MacNamara thesis for Southeast Asia, the initial opposition to U.S. involvement in Viet Nam stridently ridiculed their premise. It gained sufficient momentum to cause Lyndon B. Johnson to adopt a military procedure of fighting the Viet Cong on a no-win basis. Had he used the tremendous resources available at the time, there would be no Hanoi government today running the show for that entire peninsula jutting into the South Pacific.

The point we wish to make is that if the anti-war critics of Kennedy-Johnson-Nixon were voicing the true gospel back then, how can they sustain applied what they derided as false as the answer to salvaging the financial discomfiture in America's largest city?

The answer has to be that it is convenient for certain purposes to shoot holes in an enemy's thought process and to adopt it as one's own when the shoe suddenly shows up on the other foot.

Municipal bankruptcy is scarcely a new experience in the U.S.

Through the decades, particularly in the 1930's depression period, thousands of local governments defaulted on their bonds.

The most dramatic instance came out of Detroit where its automotive industry had fallen on such desperate circumstances as to prompt many a noted economist to predict that never again would the country see a 5-million annual car output.

The default came after Detroit had sold sizeable chunks of additional debt to the federal government.

By tightening up on all slack in the city's operations and admittedly receiving a shot in the arm by the 1940 re-armament program, Detroit came out of the woods and eventually paid all of its creditors, secured and unsecured, in full.

Two differences exist between the New York and the Detroit dilemmas.

One is the size of the problem. An elephant tumbling to the ground sets up a greater vibration than a cow falling on her side.

The other is the will to exert self help to the last degree possible as contrasted to merely calling upon an outsider for help.

The Beame administration had demonstrated neither the desire nor the capacity to come to grips with New York's real difficulty. The city has been on a buy now-pay later binge for over a decade.

In this respect it is no worse than the federal government nor many state and local governments.

There is little seemingly that can be done to control Washington, but this is no pardon for state and local units which are more closely bound to their constituents to claim the same excuse.

A New York default will make it tougher for other communities to go to the market on legitimate funding plans.

A pure and simple bailing out with no strings requiring New York to put its affairs in better order is positively frightening. It will set the stage for every improvident local administration to demand equal treatment.

GOVERNORS CUT SPENDING

Editor, In Wisconsin, Democratic Governor Patrick J. Lucey recently told state agencies they must operate on 4.5 million less during the coming year, less than they are spending. As part of his contribution to the economy drive, Lucey has moved from the governor's mansion into his own house saving $50,000 a year.

All across the country, governors are confronting a drastic financial squeeze fueled by inflation, a decline in tax revenues and pressure to maintain the tradition of generous government spending. Until recently, many states had a comfortable surplus in their treasuries in contrast to the federal government's growing debt. But according to one recent congressional study, those surpluses will shrink this year to 3.9 billion from 6.5 billion.

Economic Committee of Congress predicts 17 states will be forced to levy increased taxes this year. In addition, 22 states will have to slash spending 1.9 billion to keep their budget in balance.

California Governor Edmund G. Brown who like Wisconsin Governor Lucey chose not to live in the governor's mansion has reduced his office budget by $200,000 annually, and is calling for drastic cuts in state programs. In Missouri, Republican Governor Christopher S. Bond pleaded with the state legislature to enact campaign reforms. Rebuffed three times, Bond joined a citizen's group in a drive to place the issue on the ballot through the petition process and the measure was approved 4 to 1.

Do You REMEMBER?

— 10 Years Ago —

Buchanan — Residents of the Kansas "school" voted unanimously, 60-0, Tuesday night to close the district's two-room school and send its students to other districts on a tuition basis. The meeting, called by the board of education, followed defeat of proposed annexation to the Buchanan school district in a 34-33 vote on Aug. 30.

— 25 Years Ago —

An increase of 25 students in all grades of Coloma school was reported on opening day, Thursday. Last year's figures were 421, while this year the school enrollment reached an all-time high of 448.

The twin cities today were getting back to "normalcy" after a week-end holiday that will go down in local history as one of the highlights of western Michigan resort activities. Fully 50,000 visitors, according to conservative estimates, made the twin cities and nearby resorts their mecca over Saturday, Sunday, and Monday, Labor day. It is probable the total would be nearer 70,000 were it possible to make an actual count of the numbers that poured into this locality from the four points of the compass for the final "fling" of the season. The remarkable feature of the entire holiday period law officers said today, was the absence of serious accidents and crime. It was an orderly, well-behaved army of pleasure hunters that invaded Benton Harbor and St. Joseph, in sharp contrast to the throngs that used to come here in the pre-Volstead days.

— 75 Years Ago —

Fully 10,000 people were in Benton Harbor today to welcome Governor Theodore Roosevelt, vice presidential aspirant. The city was decorated for the occasion as it has not been since the return of Company I from war. When the famous rough rider began to speak in the tent on city park, "Gen. Apathy" at once fled and the Republicans of the entire county broke loose with an enthusiasm that pleased the colonel and the local party managers. The hero of San Juan hill was brought here to start the campaign right and he succeeded in doing it. Members of Company I acted as escorts, assisted by J. Ogden Wells of St. Joseph, who was with "Teddy" when the famous charge was made. During his speech, Roosevelt spoke feelingly of the old soldiers of the civil war and when one gray haired veteran in the front row shouted that he served with Grant the younger warrior stopped. "Did you really fight under Grant, my man?" "I did for a fact, Sir," "Then bully for you," shouted "Teddy," as he formed his bulldog teeth into a smile.

IRRIGATION FIELD MAKES HIM UPSET

Editor, Since I have developed a love for nature and God, it just makes me very upset when I fly over the Watervliet Paper Company's irrigation field.

The truth is, it is now a lake and it is overflowing. The water is going into the countyline drain and from there it flows right back into Paw Paw Lake.

For now, let's put the water back into the river at the Paper Mill, then at least we won't spread the odor and smell over such a large area.

Is Profit Top Business Priority?

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Ever since Henry Ward Beecher observed that commerce is conducted by the strong, usually against the weak, industry has denied it in toto and fostered it in fact.

Even lately, with increasing suspicion that corporate America has not so much as a soul to be damned, many tycoons have continued to reject any notion of social responsibility save the historic one, that the business of business is business as usual.

Now there are indications that if the mercantile philosophy has been prosperous it may also be self-destructive. A poll released this week by Hart Research Associates indicates that a disconcerting majority of Americans believe there is the stench of mischief in big business that should, even at the expense of some cherished capitalistic ideals, be humigated with fundamental change.

The poll, commissioned by the Peoples Bicentennial Commission, an anti-establishment body opposed to conventional wisdoms, is no less startling in its nuances and implications. Jeremy Rifkin, the untitled founder of Peoples, feels the results "clearly show" that many Americans are ready for another revolution, this time in the name of participatory or democratic economics.

For instance, the poll says that a majority of the public (66 per cent) favor the idea of employee ownership and control of U.S. companies. This is really significant. Right now I can think of only five or six companies in the nation that are employee-owned and operated — and they are small ones.

As it happens, the revolutionary idea coincides with Rifkin's insistence that democratic ideals for too long have been excluded from corporate policy making. Like Bernard Baruch, the open-collared Rifkin believes that the humanities should come before the dollars. "Our first duty runs to man before business, never forgetting that often the two are interchangeable."

To illustrate the rot, Rifkin mentions the estimated $100 billion which American workers have put away in corporate pension funds. "This money is being invested in multi-national corporations which in turn use it to shift some of their assets to other nations. In effect, then, workers are contributing to profits in other places, while undermining their own job rights and security."

Such idiocies would not occur, Rifkin says, if workers had control of their own companies and company policies. Nor would unilateral layoffs in the name of maintaining stockholder profits; nor would cozy relationships between government and industry which benefit the few at the worry of the many.

Whatever Rifkin is talking about, a single opinion poll will in no way make it a realization. As veteran opinion takers note, the public mood on a given moment is transitory at best, and about as enduring as a gossamer rope.

Yet what is clear about the poll is that in the sense it is planning for the future, American Business As Usual may be digging its own grave. Seventy-seven per cent of those polled agree corporate America is interested in profits before people, 56 per cent feel that businessmen dominate the decisions of public officials, and 49 per cent say that big business is the source of most of what's wrong in the nation today.

Moguls May Pay For Watergate

WASHINGTON (KFS) — Funny how things turn out.

Most of those 21 big business moguls who confessed to giving secret illegal corporate contributions to the 1972 Presidential campaign of Richard Nixon have never been punished and are still both wealthy and powerful.

But Sen. George McGovern, their victim, may have some measure of revenge upon them yet. He may take away lots of their dough, perhaps as much as one million.

It has come about rather casually. A year ago, Texas supporters asked McGovern if the statute forbidding corporate contributions in state campaigns and providing that any candidate whose opponent received such an illegal contribution could recover from the contributor twice the amount contributed.

No other state has a similar law carrying such a stiff financial penalty, and Texas politicians cannot remember a suit ever before being filed under it. McGovern approved the suit but promptly forgot about it. His supporters then ineptly filed their case in Federal court, which threw it out for lack of jurisdiction over a state statute. Finally, however, the case is now pending in a state civil district court and a hearing will be held on September 8.

The suit on behalf of McGovern alleges that the contributions of seven corporations violate the Texas election code. The companies involved have already pleaded guilty to $545,000 in illegal contributions and been fined. They are American Airlines, Ashland Oil, Braniff Airways, Goodyear Tire and Rubber, Gulf Oil, Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing, and Phillips Petroleum.

The defendant corporations have raised several technical legal arguments, questioning certain phases of the statute and whether it applies to those corporations doing business in Texas but not headquartered there. The law firms representing them include the former Dallas firm of Democratic National Committee chairman Robert Strauss and the Houston firm in which former Watergate special prosecutor Leon Jaworski is a senior partner.

If he wins, McGovern apparently collects the damages as a private citizen and can do with the money as he wishes. When first asked what he would do with such sudden wealth, he said he would "probably contribute it to charity."

Later he amended that to suggest he would give half the sum to private colleges in South Dakota, his home state, and half to private colleges in Texas. But he reportedly has also amended that upon discovering most private schools in Texas are fundamentalist and conservative, which is not exactly his style.

There may be some pressure upon him to donate part of the money to the debt-ridden Democratic National Committee, but McGovern has never been fond of the DNC and seems unlikely to do that. And the new finance rules restrict any contributions he might make to a Presidential campaign by himself or any other Democrat.

But to many politicians it is not nearly as important what McGovern does with the money as that big business should be properly punished for its rule in Watergate.

He is a 1961 graduate of St. Joseph high school and received his bachelor's degree from Western Michigan university. Marshall presently is engaged in laser research on aerosols and air pollution at Indiana university. He is married to the former Karen Weiland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Weiland, 180 West Ridgeway, Benton Harbor.

Crime hasn't been driven from Benton Harbor, but it appears on the decline — by about 7 per cent below the first half of 1974 according to statistics from the police department in major criminal categories.

NEWEST GILLESPIE DRUG STORE: Construction has started on two-story, 8,000 square foot professional building in the Southtown shopping area. Gillespie Drug stores of St. Joseph and Benton Harbor will occupy approximately one fourth of the new building with their fourth pharmacy. Lake Michigan Realty, the developers, estimates the new brick building will be completed about the middle of January. It will be located on Niles avenue between Burger Chef and the Southtown branch of Peoples Savings Association. Looking over plans from left are (seated) Collins Gillespie and Lydia Demski, Twin City Area Chamber of Commerce ambassador. Standing from left are Robert Gillespie, William Gillespie and Pat McMullen who originally owned the Southtown property. (Staff photo)

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Teach Boy To Yell Loudly

Amie Old Girl: You must have donated your brains to the Hadassah rummage sale. I refer to "Concerned Mom" who was afraid to let her seven-year-old boy go to the men's room by himself because "the woods are full of perverts."

Your suggestion to buttonhole a kindly gentleman on his way in and ask him to watch over the kid was idiotic. Please explain how a mother is supposed to pick out the "kindly gentleman" from the sweet old geezer who is as queer as a $3 bill?

More realistic advice would have been to tell the boy, "Go in alone and if anyone tries to molest you, scream your head off." If he doesn't know what "molest" means, she should tell him. Sex education should start early. — Louisville Reader

Dear Lou: You may have a point, but I doubt that any geezer, no matter how funny, would take such a chance with the kid's mother standing outside the door. Your suggestion that young boys be warned against molesters and that they yell their heads off is excellent. Thanks for writing.

married. You be the judge.

In the last three weeks, Hilda has "disappeared" four times. When I call her apartment, her roommate says, "I don't know where she is. Maybe she's at her mother's." I call her mother and she's not there. When Hilda turns up after two or three days and I ask where she's been, she says, "Don't be such a male chauvinist pig."

I paid $250 for an engagement ring. We plan to be married in three months. But I worry about a girl who stays lost for two and three days and then refuses to account for herself.

Does marriage settle people down? What do you think? — Once Burnt, Twice Shy

Dear Burnt: I think you'd better prepare for a life of grief

If you marry a girl who specializes in disappearing and refuses to account for her absence. Don't expect her to settle down merely because she has a wedding ring on her finger. The engagement ring doesn't seem to mean much.

Try Girls

Dear Ann Landers: I always thought your column was to read — not to write to. But here I am, looking for help.

I'm a boy 16, with lots of friends but no friendships.

No one ever calls me to go anywhere. I'm always the one who does the calling. Usually the guys. I call have "other plans." I don't know if their excuses are legitimate or not.

ANN LANDERS

My parents are always pushing me to go out, but I hate to go alone and I can't seem to get anyone to go with me. Maybe I'm a born loner. Do other people feel as I do or am I some kind of freak? Please help me. — No Name

Dear N.N.: There are millions of people like you. In fact, popular teenagers sometimes get the idea they have no friends. It's part of growing up. You say "the guys" usually have "other plans." There's another sex: Girls. Have you tried them? I'll bet at least a dozen who go to your school would be thrilled to get a phone call from you.

Give it a try, and let me know how you make out. Er... I mean get along.

There is a big difference between cold and cool. Ann Landers shows you how to play it cool without freezing people out in her booklet, "Teen-Age Sex — Ten Ways to Cool It." Send 50 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120.

Little Pffft

As if I don't have enough on my mind, my daughter told me the other day my ozone was in trouble.

As a college graduate, I knew right away either (a) the antifreeze had leaked out of my car (b) my sinus cavity was ready to erupt (c) someone had flicked their Bic near all the papers stored in the basement. But I wasn't sure. She is always laying new phrases on me and then becoming super critical because she thinks I don't keep up on what's going on in the world.

"Tell me," I said. "If your ozone was in trouble, what would you do about it?"

"My ozone is in trouble," she said. "And I am going to do something about it. I'm not going to use anymore aerosol cans and you shouldn't either."

Of course. She was talking about aerosol cans that eventually are going to take over the world. Those little devils have been playing havoc with people for years.

"I know what you mean," I said. "The other morning I mistook a can of hair spray for the deodorant and pffft, right in the old ozone."

"I know," she nodded to my relief. "Do you have any idea what that little pffft meant?"

"It meant that even when I quit, my underarms went on and on and on... you know like you've just flown from Denver to Chicago without a plane."

She winced. "I meant a deeper implication than that, Mother. Are you aware that the House Commerce Committee is drafting a bill that will include a ban of spray cans using fluorocarbons?"

"I wouldn't have gone so far as to take it to Congress," I said.

"Mother! Surely, you've seen firsthand how the fluorocarbons in pressurized cans can harm the atmospheric layer which screens the sun's radiation."

"Of course," I nodded. "Not to mention what happens when you mistakenly spray tub and tile cleaner on your hair. I mean, who wants hair that foams and deodorizes?"

"I can't believe it," she smiled. "Do you realize, Mother, this is the first 'meaningful' conversation we've been able to carry on in years."

I passed the bathroom and gave my underarms a spritz with air freshener. These may just be the only two ozones I'll ever get, and I plan to take care of them.

Peel

Peaches

Easily

As the recommended, easy and clean-as-a-whistle way to peel a peach, simply dip it into boiling water for a few seconds, remove and — voila! — the skin slips right off.

To keep the flesh bright and fresh-looking longer, use an ascorbic acid mixture or a little lemon or orange juice. Not that you have to put yourself to the trouble of peeling most peaches nowadays. Many peaches have been washed and defuzzed before they're shipped to market.

Many peach lovers contend that the single best way of eating a peach is skin and all, out-of-hand and on-the-spot.

Dr. Lester Coleman

My husband has emphysema. Can you explain in some detail exactly what this is? How serious is it?

Mrs. R.M., Calif.

Dear Mrs. M.: Emphysema is a lung condition that causes changes in the tiny air sacs in the lung.

Normally, these air sacs have a spring-like recoil which is important in bringing oxygen into the blood stream.

With emphysema, these air sacs in the lung become enlarged and lose their rebound. The result is that there is an interference of the free flow of oxygen into the lungs and into the blood stream.

The two greatest offenders in the production of this handicapping disease are tobacco and air pollution. Occasionally, repeated attacks of bronchitis, pneumonia and asthma may be responsible.

One of the saddest portraits of illness is the patient with chronic cough who smokes 30 and 40 cigarettes a day and become devitalized by a preventable disease.

Ordinations Marked By Protests

WASHINGTON (AP) — Four women who defied their church's hierarchy to take vows as Episcopal priests have been warned by one who presided over them: "You will suffer and you will hurt."

But, added the Rev. Alison Cheek Sunday in an ordination ceremony not recognized as valid by the bishop of Washington: "You will have joy and you will have peace."

The ordination ceremony at the Church of St. Stephen and the Incarnation, attended by some 1,000 persons also was marked by protest.

The Rt. Rev. William Creighton, bishop of Washington, had issued a pastoral letter read to Episcopalians' congregations Sunday asking them to boycott the ceremony.

He also asked that the ordained women not be allowed to function as priests in churches of the Washington area.

And at a time in the ceremony allotted for voicing objections, two men came to the front of the church to do so. Speaking of resigned Bishop George Barrett of Rochester, N.Y., who performed the ordinations, Dr. Ernie Oberholzer asserted: "This bishop is without jurisdiction over the candidates."

He added: "These ordinations will compound the difficulty of opening ordinations to women and will endanger the unity of this branch of Christ's church."

In a brief response, Bishop Barrett said those participating in the ceremony "do not take the order of the church lightly, but there are times when overriding considerations must supplant canons and rules."

Then he addressed the four women: "My sisters, do you believe that you are truly called by God and His church to this priesthood?"

"I believe I am so called," they answered in unison.

About 50 priests, more than half of them in clerical garb, joined in the traditional laying on of hands that marks initiation into the priesthood.

The church's House of Bishops has twice voted approval of the principle of women priests but has said the ordinations should not proceed until the General Convention has a chance to act on the question at its next meeting in September, 1978.

Returns Check

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — State Rep. William Shane gave a two-minute speech to a coal producers' group on July 14. Last week he received an unsolicited check from the organization for $500. Shane, a Democrat from a coal producing area in Indiana County, said he promptly returned the money because "I felt I was being treated like a political whore."

They included the Rev. Cheek, who was one of 11 women ordained July 20, 1974, in a Philadelphia ceremony later invalidated, the Rev. William A. Wendt of St. Stephen and the Incarnation Church and the Rev. L. Peter Beebe of Oberlin, Ohio.

The Rev. Mr. Wendt and the Rev. Mr. Beebe have been brought to trial in church courts for permitting women ordained in Philadelphia to function as priests. Guilty verdicts in both cases are under appeal.

The church's House of Bishops has twice voted approval of the principle of women priests but has said the ordinations should not proceed until the General Convention has a chance to act on the question at its next meeting in September, 1978.

The four women ordained Sunday, all of whom were deacons, are the Rev. Alison Palmer, who also is director of the Office of International Labor Affairs for the State Department, the Rev. Lee McGee, a chaplain at American University in Washington; the Rev. Dr.

Betty Rosenberg of Arlington, Va., a pastoral counselor; and the Rev. Diane Tickell of Anchorage, Alaska.

The Rev. Phyllis Edwards of Evanston, Ill., also a deacon, had withdrawn from the ordinations after consulting with her bishop.

VA Hospital Opens Today With 'TVs' Under Guard

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Dr. S. Martin Lindenauer, chief of staff at the Veterans Administration hospital here, hopes to return the facility back to normal following a series of mysterious respiratory arrests.

"This is a first-rate hospital and it has to go on," Lindenauer said.

The hospital opens today for normal admissions for the first time since Aug. 18, three days after doctors first began to suspect that a psychopathic killer was using a powerful muscle paralyzing drug on patients to trigger breathing failures.

Security has been tightened at the hospital in preparation for the return to normalcy. All patients on intravenous tubes (IVs) were to be hooked in one ward on the third floor and placed under 24-hour guard.

Doctors suspect the killer probably injected the drug, Pavulon, into the IV tubes of the patients, resulting in the respiratory arrests and at least one and as many as 11 deaths.

Pavulon and similar drugs were placed under lock and key since the FBI was called in to investigate the situation.

But for the hospital to return to a normal state of affairs, it must have patients. And Lindenauer is afraid the publicity surrounding the investigation may keep them away.

"That's why I fear the bad publicity because if patients don't trust this hospital, they won't come here," he said. "In the coming weeks and months, I just hope there will be patients out there still."

"When you get right down to it, a hospital runs on trust," he added.

But that trust, between doctors, other staff members and patients, has been strained by the ongoing investigation. Doctors and FBI agents are certain the culprit is a member of the staff.

According to Lindenauer, the killer is "somebody (who) has been trusted to act in a responsible manner — and perhaps has acted in a responsible manner for 20 or 30 years."

Even though the hospital has limited admissions to emergency cases only until last week, the patient population has remained around 300. Doctors hope to have the number back up to 250, about two-thirds the hospital's capacity, within a week.

The hospital reported 34 breathing failures involving 23 patients between July 28 and Aug. 15. There were 11 deaths associated with those arrests, three of which occurred long after the respiratory failures.

Of the 15 most suspicious cases, there have been five deaths, only one of which has been directly attributed to the respiratory arrest.

Detroit Policemen Will Appeal Ruling

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Police Officers Association will appeal an arbitration board's ruling that forces all city police officers to live within Detroit's city limits. DPOA President Ron Sexton said Sunday. Sexton said he felt the main question — whether a police officer has a constitutional right to choose where he lives — was not answered by the panel's ruling last week. The 2-1 ruling Friday by a three-man arbitration board capped eight months of study by the panel. The decision, which can be appealed in the courts, remains in effect only until the DPOA's present contract with the city expires in 1977, officials said.

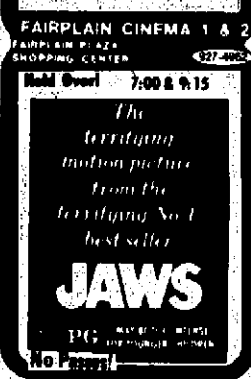

Sources close to the department say Sexton's position is generally upheld by white police officers while black officers, most of whom live in the city, feel the panel's ruling has little effect upon them.

City officials estimate some 300 officers live illegally outside the Detroit city limits. The DPOA, which represents 3,000 patrolmen, places the figure closer to 90 officers. Detroit city officials said Saturday they would begin at once to force officers to obey the panel's ruling. A special counsel to Mayor Coleman Young said the city will ask this week that a Wayne County Circuit Court judge lift his ban on enforcing the residency requirement.

QUALITY in home furnishings, the most important consideration of all to the buyer, is something you can touch, a lot better than you think. You can look — and you can ask questions.

For instance, you know quite a bit about good fabrics, just from selective cleaning for many years. And you can judge furniture. Take a good look at that chair you like, check the evenness and neatness of the stitching. See if the fabric is properly centered on the back, seat and arms. See how well it fits.

Then inspect whatever wood trim or frame shows. See how well the wood is finished. If you don't know what kind of wood it is, ask. Then read the manufacturer's label that tells you what the cushion content is, whether foam, cotton, felt, down, urethane foam, or a mixture. And ask more questions of the salesman.

You'll find our courteous salespeople always ready to answer your questions — so don't hesitate to ask as many as you like. And you'll find that our display includes fine manufacturer's names, your best assurance of quality. Look closely at whatever you buy — and be sure to take a good long look at our display of quality furnishings.

when they drive.

The legal maximum speed on Michigan highways and freeways has been 55 miles per hour since last year's gasoline shortage. But highway officials say the average Michigan driver today is driving his car along the freeway at about 59 miles per hour.

Officials say trucks and buses also are exceeding the 55 m.p.h. limit. Spot checks show trucks are averaging 58 m.p.h. while buses are zooming along at nearly 65 m.p.h.

Officials say the data, compiled quarterly in spot checks, is not all bad.

Statistics show the 55 m.p.h. average is a decrease of 3 m.p.h. since the lower speeds went into effect.

In addition, the Department of State Highways and Transportation says most drivers who exceed the lower limits do so by only about 3 m.p.h. Two per cent of the drivers insist on exceeding 70, highway officials say.

For all highways, including two-lane state highways, the spot checks show speeds averaging 55.3 m.p.h.

According to a highway department analyst, the people most likely to exceed the speed limit are families on long trips. The analyst notes that higher speeds all day could make a difference in the amount of miles the family would travel.

UNCONCERNED

BOSTON (AP) — Hugo Sanchez, 31, of Cumberland, R.I., was killed in a hit and run accident on Massachusetts 3 Sunday. Witnesses said Sanchez was hit by a car driven by a man who stopped, got out, looked at Sanchez's body, lit a cigar and drove off.

Ford Huddling On Oil Controls

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford is meeting with Republican senators and congressional leaders of both parties as he tries to head off the Democratic move to restore domestic oil price controls for six months.

The two meetings today follow one Saturday at which seven Democratic senators agreed with Ford that the best course would be enactment of a measure to phase out oil price controls.

An end to controls, sought by the oil industry as an incentive to increased domestic production, would mean further increases in the price of gasoline that has soared more than 50 per cent in two years.

Ford has until Tuesday night to act on the Democratic six-month extension of the controls that expired Aug. 31.

A veto is considered certain unless agreement can be reached by then on a compromise approach. A Senate vote on that veto already is scheduled for Wednesday.

An earlier Ford bid to resolve the lengthy impasse collapsed when congressional Democrats decided to push for the six-month extension before considering any new decontrol plan.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said Saturday he would consult fellow Democrats before setting aside that course.

The continuing energy debate and a House vote scheduled Tuesday to override Ford's veto of an $8 billion education money bill dominate the week's congressional agenda.

If the energy bill is vetoed, it will be the 10th congressional measure rejected by Ford this year, bringing to 37 his 13-month total in the continuing battle with the heavily Democratic Congress.

In five showdown tests this year, Congress has failed to override Ford vetoes on farm, jobs, housing and strip mine bills, while mustering a heavy vote to enact a $2 billion health bill rejected by the President.

Senate Democrats agreed last Thursday to put aside any further compromise efforts on energy until after the six-month extension is voted and vetoed.

Coal Miners Starting Back To Work

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — Coal miners began returning to their jobs at some southern West Virginia mines early today, but there were reports of picketing that could block any sustained back-to-work movement.

Pickets showed up at the Sapota Coal Co.'s mine complex in Logan County, keeping some 200 men from working the "best-of" shift in the seven mines there. But in other areas of the state several large coal mines began operations for the first time in more than a month.

The widest walkout has idled up to two-thirds of the nation's 125,000 soft-coal miners. Since last week, it has been largely confined to the southern areas of West Virginia.

It began Aug. 11 in Logan County over the firing of a local union official. It soon grew into a general protest over the slowness of arbitration on local issues and the tendency, as miners saw it, of coal companies to use federal courts to get miners back to work.

There appeared to be strong support from many miners for a return to work. A solid majority of the rank-and-file membership of United Mine Workers locals in District 17 and District 20 voted to go back.

However, miners have a tradition of not crossing picket lines even in strikes not sanctioned by the international union. The UMW is not sanctioning the walkout.

At a meeting Sunday of about 300 miners in Boone County, dissenters vowed to continue picketing. One miner left the meeting muttering, "well, it looks like we're in for another week."

"We're just hoping that not too many pickets are out," a district official in Beckley said Sunday night. "I don't think any of the men are going to cross the picket lines yet. But I think they're going back to work — it might take a few days."

Many of the pickets are involved in the so-called right-to-work movement, which wants the 1974 contract with the coal operators reopened to include a right to strike over local disputes.

There has been some violence. An unused coal preparation plant near Beckley was burned, several cars shot up and burned, and there was an incident in which pickets held 8 to 10 miners at gunpoint to stop them from going to work last week.

On Saturday, three newsmen attempting to cover a meeting were threatened and their notebooks and camera film confiscated by a group of miners. A Mercer County sheriff's deputy said he stood by without interfering because "there was no doubt in my mind that they would have hurt" one of the reporters.

Ask Your Dentist

By ALFRED E. SEYLER, D.D.S.

Q. Can my teeth ache because of sinus trouble?

A. Yes. And sometimes one can have sinus trouble because of upper teeth — especially the molars — which are infected.

Your dentist should be able to diagnose your problem and perhaps help to correct it. He will need to take a few x-rays and perhaps make tests of the individual teeth.

Quite recently, an article appeared in the dental literature which stated a person could make a simple test to see if their sinuses were congested. The writers suggested that the person should raise himself on his tip toes, then suddenly drop back on his heels. If there is sinus congestion, the person will be able to feel a reaction in the sinus areas to the "bump" when his heels come down hard.

Q. I have a friend who soaks his dentures in whiskey every night. He claims it keeps them cleaner than the usual commercial cleaners. How about it?

A. Your friend is doing what denture wearers should do — he removes his dentures before going to bed, thus leaving the dentures out of his mouth for a period each day. Also — he is keeping the dentures moist while they are not in his mouth.

Although soaking one's dentures in whiskey is not the usual procedure, it could — and for your friend it does — work satisfactorily. Dentists at the V.A. Hospital in Oklahoma City reported a similar case.

Their patient's denture was in good condition — but almost snow white in color.

Apparently, if one doesn't mind the snow white color of the usual pink denture base, the whiskey can do as well as the more conventional denture cleaning solution.

Perhaps some people would like — as your friend told you — the whiskey flavor of the denture which lasts for 10 - 15 minutes after he puts it in each morning.

But as for me — that's the last flavor I want in my mouth the first thing in the morning!

Q. I'm having a new lower partial denture made and I want my dentist to use plastic teeth in the back, so they won't be so noisy or clicky when I chew. He wants to fill the back teeth on the denture with regular silver fillings, to prevent the plastic teeth from wearing down so fast. Have you ever heard of such a thing?

A. Frequently, when a partial denture is placed and functions against natural teeth or porcelain teeth of a denture, plastic denture teeth will wear down rather quickly.

Your dentist is offering you a simpler and cheaper solution than putting gold in the plastic teeth of your partial. Either metal should act as a "stop" to prevent excess wear of the plastic teeth.

The procedure is not too involved. After you have worn your partial for a week or two, the dentist will prepare "cavities" in the teeth of the partial and fill them with silver amalgam — the same material that is used to fill natural teeth. The silver fillings will not wear down, usually, and your "bite" will not be changed.

Edsel Ford's Design Is 'Youth-Oriented'

DETROIT (AP) — Those who buy one of Ford Motor Company's 1976 Stallion or Cobra models will be driving a car designed in part by the firm's heir apparent, Edsel B. Ford II. "I found we didn't have a '75 or '76 product that seemed to be youth-oriented," said Ford, 24, son of company Board Chairman Henry Ford II. "Cars like this are very big in California. We wanted to hit the 18 to 30 age group with something exciting." The Stallions are sporty versions of the Pinto, Maverick, and Mustang II, while the Cobra II is a mid-engine version of the Shelby GT-350 which screamed through the mid-1960s. The models feature special paint and other sporty embellishments and have a black-on-red stallion head on the front fenders. The head was one of Edsel's contributions, too. He says the Cobra II will get 35 miles per gallon, but is also available with a less fuel-conscious V8.

Crashes Injure 14 On Weekend were the driver, Ricky Mac Dotson, 20, of 1072 Jennings avenue, Benton Harbor, and his passenger, Michael Wayne Milnikel, 23, of 5400 Red Arrow highway, Stevensville.

Dotson said he swerved to avoid an unidentified car, which he said drove into his lane from the opposite direction, lost control and ran into a ditch. He was ticketed for violation of the basic speed law and for having no operator's license, deputies indicated.

Deputies said three people were treated and released from Memorial hospital, St. Joseph, after a one-car accident Sunday on Bacon School road near Miners road, Royalton township.

Deputies identified the injured as the car's driver, Paul Denton Dunn, 54, Bacon School road, and his passengers, Scott Alan Chaney, 13, and Amber Lane Chaney, 14, both of 4783 Bacon School road. Dunn said he hit a hole in the road and lost control of the car. It went down an embankment and hit a tree. He was cited for driving with his license suspended after the 12:10 p.m. accident.

A Pontiac man was treated for minor injuries at Memorial hospital Sunday after a three-car accident on I-94 near Carmody road, Watervliet township, state police of the Benton Harbor post said.

Injured was Jeffery Felts, 19, whose car lost a tire and was sitting halfway on the road in the westbound lane when struck in the rear by a car driven by Donald Achten, 40, of Hastings, Mich. A car driven by Phillip Coffey, 25, Michigan City, Ind., then hit the rear of Achten's vehicle, troopers said. Neither of the other two drivers were injured in the 10:45 p.m. accident and no tickets were issued, troopers said.

A St. Joseph man was treated and released from Memorial hospital after his car ran off Hillandale road south of Napier avenue, Benton township police said.

Police said it appeared that Timothy Joseph Weber, 20, of 424 Upton drive, fell asleep at the wheel in the 10 p.m. accident Saturday and no tickets were issued.

Farm Wives Think He's Old Meany people overseas who depend on our wheat, to keep them from starving to death.

Mrs. Heuser and her husband operate Hill Top Orchards and Nurseries, Inc., a 1,400-acre enterprise that produces apples and other tree fruits and nursery stock. She is communications chairman of Women for the Survival of Agriculture, a Michigan activist group devoted to creating better understanding of agriculture issues among urban people.

Her comments came after Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz had told the Senate Agriculture Committee there would be no further grain sales to Russia until settlement of the dispute with dock workers over loading grain ships. Meany has said the unions want both assurances that the Soviet purchases won't raise domestic food prices and more jobs for dock workers and seamen.

Since early July the Soviets have bought 9.8 million tons of American grain, valued at $1.25 billion, among the 16.5 million tons of grain they have purchased in world markets. Butz estimates that because of its drought-damaged crops, Russia will need to buy an additional 8.5 million tons, much of it from this country.

Mrs. Heuser said members of her group and those of similar women's groups in several other states are upset over the apparent power of one labor leader to dictate how much and to whom farmers can sell their grain.

She points out that because they produce far more than domestic consumers can use, farmers have to rely each year on exporting the output of one of every four crop acres.

Mrs. Heuser and 10 other women from as many states — each representing an exportable commodity, such as wheat, corn, rice, soybeans, cotton — are scheduled to go to Washington Wednesday. There they will hold a press conference and set up a telephone "hotline" on which farmers are invited to call to tell the group how they feel about the union grain boycott.

On Thursday they plan to visit Meany at his AFL-CIO headquarters, despite failure of their efforts to get an appointment. Mrs. Heuser said a request for an appointment, by Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D. Minn.), a member of the Senate Agriculture Committee, acting in their behalf and that of the Agriculture Council of America drew no reply from Meany.

CYCLIST AIDED: Ambulance attendants assist Daniel Phillips, 22, South Haven, after his motorcycle was struck from behind by car on M-140 at I-196 overpass, South Haven township, last night. State police from South Haven post said Phillips had slowed to make turn when accident occurred. Car was driven by Joseph Ellison, 37, Chicago. Phillips was released after treatment at South Haven Community hospital. Ellison was ticketed on charges of reckless driving, being disorderly by being intoxicated and having an open container of intoxicants in vehicle, police reported. (Tom Renner photo)

Blazes Set, Firemen Say

Two fires in the same wooden fence at the home of Joyce Smith, 1052 Chicago avenue, were reported to Benton township firemen almost exactly 24 hours apart. Both fires, firemen said, were deliberately set, but caused little damage to the fence. The first was reported Sunday at 12:07 a.m., the second today at 12:02 a.m. There was no damage to the Smith home, firemen reported.

parently minor stab wound to the chest and released.

City police said Washington reported being stabbed by an ice pick during a quarrel with a woman in an apartment on Summit street. No arrest was made, pending the signing of a complaint, police said.

Benton Harbor police Saturday investigated the slashings of eight tires on five vehicles parked in the West Main street area. Total value of the tires was estimated at $450.

Reported slashings were a tire on a 1975 Buick at the Schroeder Buick agency lot, 200 West Main; a tire on a station wagon owned by Douglas Kuball of Imperial 400 motel, 711 West Main, and two tires on each of three cars owned by National car rental, 579 West Main.

City police early Sunday also investigated the theft of gasoline caps, valued at $25, from five 1975 Monzas parked in the lot of Ned Gates Chevrolet, 300 West Britain avenue.

Two thefts were reported to Benton township police over the weekend. Charles Fain, 2184 Laurel avenue, said a 3/4-horsepower outboard motor was stolen from a boat parked by his home. Euel Thorpe, 2301 Crawford drive, told police a tape player and power saw, valued at $175, were stolen from his home.

Allen L. Gano, route 1, box 254, Pipestone road, Sodus township, told Berrien sheriff's deputies a chain saw, valued at $100, was taken from where he had been cutting wood near Tabor and River roads, Sodus township, Sunday about 2:30 p.m.

Thefts reported to Benton Harbor police were:

—A television set valued at $175 from the residence of Lawrence Ollens, 1134 Pavone street.

—A radio and linens, totaling $24, from an apartment in a house at 340 High street, owned by Mrs. Donald Bailey, 478 Dale avenue, Fairplain.

Investigators Snub Conspiracy Theory

By LINDA DEUTSCH
Associated Press Writer
SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — The name of Charles Manson may dominate the case of Lynette "Squeaky" Fromme, although prosecutors say they find no evidence of a conspiracy in the attempted assassination of President Ford.

Manson, convicted of murder in the deaths of nine persons, is reputed by some authorities to still have a strong influence over some of his communal "family," despite the fact he is in prison.

Among the most loyal to Miss Fromme, 27, charged with attempted murder of the President after pointing a loaded .45 caliber pistol at Ford from an arm's length away as the President shook hands with well-wishers near the State Capitol on Friday.

She once said of the Manson family: "They're my life."

FBI agents who interviewed Manson in his San Quentin jail cell over the weekend say he denied any role in a conspiracy to kill Ford but refused to answer specific questions.

U.S. Atty. Dwayne Keyes and Sacramento Police Chief William Kinney both said during the weekend they had no evidence of any Manson involvement.

And Miss Fromme's roommate, Sandra Good, another loyal Manson follower, said Manson had nothing to do with the incident.

FBI spokesman Tom Griffin said Manson was interviewed at San Quentin Prison by two agents. "In one and a half hours we came up with absolutely nothing of any evidentiary value or any lead value either," he said. "We got no answers to specific questions as to the actual event or any conspiracy or plan."

Griffin said Manson, 40, was cooperative but only "to the standpoint of giving out his theory on how he thinks the world should be. He's willing to talk about that."

Ford, meanwhile, relaxed on the golf course both Saturday and Sunday. White House officials said the President will not change any travel plans because of the gun incident. He flies to New Hampshire and Missouri this week.

In recent months, Miss Fromme and Miss Good have launched new efforts to promote Manson's philosophy. They visited newspaper offices and drafted "press releases" quoting Manson.

In July, they contacted an Associated Press reporter who had covered Manson's trial. Miss Fromme said in a statement joined by Miss Good: "If Nixon's reality wearing a new Ford face continues to run the country against the law, your homes will be bloodier than the Tate-LaBianca houses and My Lai put together."

The FBI's Griffin said, "I think our Los Angeles office indicated it had clipped the story and it was part of our files. I don't know if it was disseminated beyond those files."

Miss Fromme, being held under $1 million bail, has not entered a plea. Her arraignment was continued until Thursday. By then, prosecutors hope to have a federal grand jury indictment charging her under the new federal law covering assassination attempts on presidents.

he called the "homicidal attempt" on Ford's life.

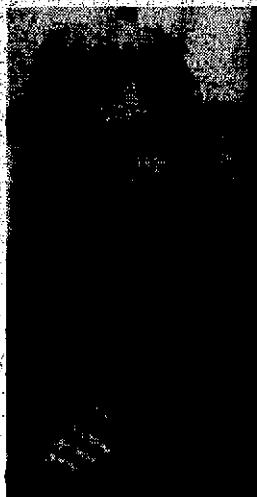

In Moscow, the Soviet press said it was a symptom of "the cult of violence" in the United States. "It looks like attempted murders are becoming a permanent fixture of large political campaigns in the U.S.A.," said Komsomolskaya Pravda, organ of the Communist youth movement.

In San Diego, Calif., a woman who identified herself as Miss Good's mother, told the San Diego Union she wishes her daughter had died of respiratory ailments she suffered as a child. The woman declined to give her name and address because she said she is afraid of Sandra.

"Those times, the doctors told me she was dead," said the woman who said she hasn't seen Sandra for five years. "Once I even left the hospital after they told me she had died. They called me back."

"Why did she have to pull through?"

Ford Won't Change Habit Of Meeting With People

WASHINGTON (AP) — White House officials say that President Ford will continue his practice of meeting as many people as possible when he travels later this week to New Hampshire, Missouri and Texas.

And the Secret Service says it plans no dramatic changes in its protection of the President in spite of an assassination attempt as he greeted crowds in Sacramento, Calif., on Friday.

Ford, showing no signs of strain from the incident, spent a relaxed Sunday on the golf course and at a reception at the newly opened Vice Presidential residence.

TALKS NOW: U.S. Atty. Dwayne Keyes tells reporters in Sacramento, Calif., Saturday that Lynette Fromme, who is being held in alleged assassination attempt against President Ford, carried pistol used in attempt in bag beneath her long, flowing dress. (AP Wirephoto)

A letter purporting to be signed by Manson was received by several state legislators Friday, the day Miss Fromme was arrested. It said, "I've told you people over and over — I can release thoughts that will destroy you," and warned that "the other justice is gonna catch up with you."

"There's a wave of assassins moving throughout the world," Miss Good said after Miss Fromme's arrest. "Many people will be assassinated in the near future."

But hours later, relaxing barefoot in her living room, Miss Good said she was shocked at Miss Fromme's arrest and added: "You know, just because I say your house will burn down, it doesn't mean I'm going to light the fire. It doesn't mean I'm going to do it."

Commenting Sunday on the case, Pope Paul VI warned that declining spiritual values endanger modern life and said he was shocked and grieved at what

Giacalone, With 'Nothing To Hide,' To Take 5th

DETROIT (AP) — Reputed Mafia figure Anthony "Tony Jack" Giacalone will be the second key witness in less than a week to refuse to cooperate with a federal grand jury probing the disappearance of ex-Teamsters president Jimmy Hoffa.

Giacalone's attorney, S. Allen Early, said his client has "nothing to hide" in the Hoffa case, but would take the Fifth Amendment anyway when he testifies today.

Hoffa told his family the day he disappeared he was on his way to meet Giacalone, but the reputed Mafia chieftain has denied there was any scheduled meeting between the two.

Hoffa's foster son, Charles "Chuckie" O'Brien, refused to answer questions last Wednesday in a grand jury appearance that lasted just seven minutes.

O'Brien was driving a car belonging to Giacalone's son, Joseph, in the vicinity of a fashionable suburban Detroit restaurant where Hoffa was last seen on the day he dropped from sight, July 30.

O'Brien's attorney, James Burdick, said his client balked at the grand jury because the entire grand jury system was unfair and because the probe was moving into the area of alleged corruption in the Teamsters Union.

O'Brien, a Teamster organizer, predicted he would be indicted in connection with the Hoffa disappearance, although he claims he knows nothing about what happened to his foster father.

"I don't think Mr. Giacalone has anything to hide in the Hoffa situation," said Early, who emphasized his client would use his right to invoke the Fifth Amendment because he is already under indictment on other matters.

In April, Giacalone was indicted for attempting to evade more than $140,000 in federal income taxes from 1968 through 1971.

In May, a federal grand jury indicted him on two counts of mail fraud and one count of conspiracy for allegedly defrauding Integrated Medical Services Ltd., a firm which paid Giacalone more than $12,000 in fees in connection with a Teamster hospital care plan.

Attorneys are not permitted inside the grand jury room, so Early said his only option is to have his client take the Fifth Amendment on every question.

Anthony "Tony Pro" Provenzano, another man Hoffa told family and friends he was on his way to meet before he disappeared, testified for about 10 minutes on Friday and "answered every question," according to his attorney, William Bufalino.

But when asked if Provenzano had invoked his Fifth Amendment rights against testifying, Bufalino gave an evasive answer.

Provenzano is a former East Coast Teamsters boss currently being investigated in connection with a $4 million Teamsters pension fund loan to a developer.

At least two other witnesses invoked the Fifth Amendment before the grand jury, according to informed sources. They are Joseph Bane Sr., and his son, Joseph Jr. Both are Teamsters officials who are close friends of the Hoffa family. Both Banes have been called before grand juries in the past in connection with probes of the Teamsters Union.

Probing Anti-Indian Bias

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich. (AP) — Federal civil rights investigators are probing charges that a group of Indians were discriminated against in their attempts to get federal funds for a sewer system. A task force from the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights spent three days last week checking complaints that local officials refused to channel sufficient federal funds into a sewer project for an area populated mostly by impoverished Indians. City officials have said residents of the area should pay $13 a foot for installation and an additional $500 for a hookup. Residents said because the lots in the area were large, they could not afford the assessment. They asked the city to allocate more money from federal Community Development Funds paid to the city, thus lowering the assessment. A formal hearing on the discrimination complaints was scheduled for Oct. 22-23. If the complaints are substantiated, a civil rights commission spokesman said, millions of dollars in federal funds could be tied up until the issue is resolved.

Bus Line Gives Half Fare For Those Seeking Work

DETROIT (AP) — Continental Trailways bus lines today will begin offering half-price fares for unemployed Michigan residents who want to look for jobs in other states.

Lawrence Stanton, vice president for governmental affairs for Continental, said it's hoped the plan will trigger job-seeking efforts by persons now out of work.

Stanton said about half the persons who travel Continental have annual incomes of $8,500 or less.

"This particular segment of the public has been hard hit by unemployment," he said.

The bus line said the plan would be available to anyone in the 48 states it serves and who can prove they are out of a job.

To qualify for half-fares, riders in Michigan need only produce identification cards with their pictures, which are furnished by the Michigan Employment Security Commission.

The company said it would continue the plan on an experimental basis at least through Nov. 6, although half-fare tickets would be honored through Nov. 21.

Unemployed workers can travel for half rates Mondays through Thursdays and buy one-way or round-trip tickets.

"If a trip starts on Thursday, then there is no restriction to traveling half-fare over the weekends," Stanton said.

The only other restriction is that the destination must be outside of Michigan. "A rider can't go from Detroit to Jackson, for example, at half-fare," Stanton said.

Stanton said he thought the half-price plan would help even out pockets of unemployment around the country by permitting workers to go where the jobs are.

He said Continental depots will have folders with information from the U.S. Department of Labor job bank telling where there are jobs.

"But we're not setting up as an employment agency," he said. "We suggest that anyone getting one of these folders check with the MESC for an update to be sure the job market hasn't changed."

Tax Bill Signed By Gov. Milliken

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Gov. William Milliken has signed a law to eliminate automatic property tax increases that result from hikes in county valuations ordered by the state Tax Commission.

The bill also requires that starting with the 1976 tax year, a local millage rate will be lowered when the state orders a valuation increase. The purpose is to keep the local tax level where it would have been had the state-imposed increase not been ordered.

School districts, intermediate school districts and community college districts are exempt from the millage reduction requirement.

The bill also updates the appeal procedure language for local governments by directing appeals to the State Tax Tribunal instead of the extinct State Tax Commission.

The bill also provides that even when local valuations are changed on appeal, the total equalized valuation of the county cannot be changed. A change in the total equalized valuation would upset the balance of one county in relationship to all others in the state.

Another bill signed by Milliken removes the restriction that plant restoration projects conducted under a 1974 law must exceed $150,000 to be eligible for state tax relief. However, the requirement that such projects equal or exceed 10 per cent of the cash value of the factory is retained.

Boat Transportation Next For Detroit?

DETROIT (AP) — It may be possible in the near future for commuters to hop a commuter boat for a relaxing cruise to work along the Detroit River every morning. A proposal to establish a commuter boat run along Lake St. Clair and the Detroit River is being prepared by members of the Department of State Highways and should be completed by November. The proposal is based on an 18-month study which showed boat service would be competitive with other transportation. The study, intended as background only will be presented to the department's Public Transportation Council today. Thomas Lebovic, a member of the staff which prepared the study, said the boats would be "surprisingly competitive." He said operating costs for one boat over 10 months were estimated at $150,000. Fares would need to be only slightly higher than those charged for buses, Lebovic said.

State Will Run Detroit Institution

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan will begin operating the Women's Division of the Detroit House of Corrections following approval of a $976,500 appropriation okayed by Gov. William Milliken. The City of Detroit got the state to agree to operate the facility after years of complaining that local funding did not adequately pay for running the jail. Complaints were also voiced that the city was paying to house women from other parts of the state. The appropriation was contained in a funding bill for the state Department of Corrections. The $92.8 million measure includes an $800,000 program to improve prison health care. The bill also creates a new Bureau of Medical Services to coordinate and direct efforts to upgrade the penal health-care system. Other measures signed by Milliken included: —A $5.12 million community college capital outlay bill. —A $65.25 million capital outlay bill, largely to continue ongoing projects. —A measure requiring the director of the state Department of Management and Budget to provide a monthly general fund report to the House and Senate fiscal agencies. —A bill authorizing a circuit court to destroy records in cases in which there has been no activity in 25 years. Judgments or decrees must be preserved and files must be offered to the state or local historical commission.

APPOINTED: Consumers Power Company's board of directors has named James B. Falahee general counsel and chief legal officer of the Jackson, Mich., company, effective Oct. 1, 1975. He will retain his title of vice president. Falahee, 51, replaces Harold P. Graves, who is taking early retirement effective Sept. 30. Falahee has been vice president and general attorney since March, 1975.

Mother Claims Infant Murdered

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — A woman whose prematurely born daughter was given a blood transfusion against her wishes says the infant's death was murder.

Denita Jvey charged on Sunday that the death of 6-day-old Julia, born three months premature, was caused by a blood transfusion given with guardian Joel Cohen's authorization.

Michigan Bean Crop A Washout

By JIM KEEGSTRA

Associated Press Writer
LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Drenching August rains have drowned hopes for an average navy bean harvest in Michigan this year and farmers now are praying for any kind of returns during the fast-escaping harvest time.

A world-market dry bean shortage and soaring prices are real possibilities, say farmers, county agents and state officials.

They agree the first week of September was a disaster for mid-state and Thumb-area farmers, who grow 90 per cent of the nation's navy bean crop.

Continuing rains pelling Michigan may cause $300 million of crop and property damages in the Lower Peninsula, according to worried state officials.

Most damage will be to crops caught in flat fields of rising water for days on end. Noncrop damage could run from $3 million to $5 million, say officials in Gov. William Milliken's office.

August's normal three-inch rainfall was almost tripled in Michigan's central counties, reports the state Department of Agriculture.

Bean crops are 70 to 90 per cent wiped out, said Ed Renkle, the department's emergency services coordinator. Rains also ruined crops in Oceana and Newaygo counties in western Michigan, he said, and vegetables such as onions, celery, carrots and potatoes have been hurt.

Because of Michigan's huge share of navy bean production, farm experts say a bad harvest could force prices to skyrocket.

"There's a definite chance of shortage next year," said John McGill, a Michigan Bean Shippers Association official.

"If the situation isn't critical now, it's so close it doesn't make any difference," McGill said. "It's deteriorating daily."

A Saginaw County farm agent said some bean fields are completely wiped out, causing damage estimates of $8 million. Estimates for neighboring Bay and Gratiot counties were $6 million to $8 million and $3.5 million respectively.

Beans are now priced about $22 a hundredweight. There is talk of prices more than doubling in the months ahead, perhaps even reaching $57, the 1973 record.

"We've got some people up here who put beans in storage last year," one northern Michigan county agent said. "They're the only people smiling now."

Constant wetness has affected all bean fields, even those on high ground. Farmers are unable to use heavy harvesting machinery, though the best harvest time was the end of August.

More seriously, the damp hurts beans' quality, sometimes leading processors to reject them as unfit for humans. Wetness discolors the beans and, in extreme cases, causes souring, mold and sprouting.

Low-quality beans could be ground up for animal feed, but then they compete with more nutritious feeds like soybeans. "When you hit that stage, it's usually not an attractive prospect to even harvest them," said one agriculture official.

Testing Political Waters

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Former Democratic U.S. Sen. Fred Harris of Oklahoma will test Michigan sentiment for his presidential bid on a swing through the state Sept. 14. Harris has scheduled a full day of meetings with backers and potential supporters in Lansing, Ann Arbor and Kalamazoo in hopes of forming the core of a "Harris For President" campaign in the state, said Rep. Perry Bullard, D-Ann Arbor. Bullard is Michigan's chief Harris organizer.

Naval Official Not Worrying

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — Rear Adm. Kinnaird R. McKee says he isn't upset that he will probably go down in history as the man who was superintendent of the U.S. Naval Academy when it went coeducational.

Local Contractors Ignored

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The state Department of Labor has urged federal officials to change their minds and "ensure that the extensive Housing and Urban Development projects in Detroit are performed by local workers." The federal agency's recent decision to hire an Illinois firm and ignore local demolition contractors because of alleged improper work "must be questioned in light of the severe unemployment situation in Detroit," said Keith Molin, department director.

The Instant It Happened

READING, WRITING AND BAYONETS

It was a shock that spoke for much of the outraged South.

"Oh God," the Little Rock women cried, "the niggers are in school."

Six Negro girls and three Negro boys were entering Central high school in Little Rock, Ark., after a struggle that had touched the rim of violence. At an unlikely place.

Little Rock, a moderate town with a liberal news, congressman and paper, had become the battleground where the South would meet firm against the 1964 Supreme Court decision to desegregate schools.

In keeping with that decision, federal courts had approved a plan by the Little Rock school board to enroll a few Negroes at Central in September, 1957. Then, unexpectedly, on the eve of school opening, September 2, Gov. Orval Faubus, considered a moderate on race, went on television to declare: "It would not be possible to restore or to maintain order if forcible integration is carried out tomorrow."

Next day, 270 National Guardsmen patrolled the school. No blacks appeared. The day after, nine Negroes showed up.

"A nigger! They're coming! Here they come!" the mob outside the school shouted. The Guardsmen barred the way. A woman tried to comfort one of the black children.

Meanwhile, President Eisenhower, who had said, "You cannot change people's hearts merely by laws," said of the crisis: "The federal constitution will be upheld by me by every legal means at my command."

After courtroom wrangling, the Guardsmen left and on Sept. 23 the nine children entered the school. A mob of about 1,000 had gathered.

"Where are the niggers?" we'll lynch them all, look, they're going into our school, they've gone in," the mob cried. Three hours later, authorities gave in and sent the students home.

Calling it a "disgraceful occurrence," President Eisenhower reacted by sending federal troops into the south for the first time since Reconstruction, to protect the rights of Negroes. One thousand were Army paratroopers, along with 10,000 guardsmen.

It is the next day, Sept. 25. Twenty-four soldiers patrol inside the school. Outside, the citizens as well as the hater gather.

Paratroopers with bayonets prod some snailing schoolgirls to be on their way. The girls still smile. It is all so unreal in 1957 in the U.S.A. One man is bloodied when he tries to grab a soldier's rifle.

But, at the point of a bayonet, the nine blacks enter Central high school and the mob goes home.

Going Back Today In History

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, Sept. 6, the 21st day of 1971. There are 114 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1492, a Spanish expedition landed at what is now St. Augustine, Fla., and founded the first permanent European settlement in North America.

On this date:

In 1614, Peter Stuyvesant surrendered New Amsterdam to the English.

In 1790, Wisconsin came under British control after being French territory.

In 1895, the Crimean War ended.

In 1883, construction of the Northern Pacific Railroad was completed with the driving of the last spike near Garrison, Minn.

In 1934, 134 persons lost their lives in a fire aboard the luxury liner Merro Castle off the New Jersey coast.

In 1906, Sen. Huey Long, D-La., was shot at Baton Rouge. He died two days later.

Ten years ago: A number of countries, including the United States, made appeals to India and Pakistan to stop their fighting.

Five years ago: The Red Cross was named to negotiate with guerrillas holding 180 hostages aboard two hijacked airliners in Jordan.

One year ago: President Ford granted former President Richard M. Nixon an unconditional pardon for any crimes he may have committed during his term in office.

Today's birthdays: Comedian Sid Caesar is 53 years old. Songwriter Howard Dietz is 79.

Thought for today: Where there's marriage without love, there will be love without marriage. — Benjamin Franklin

Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago today, George Washington alerted his generals that he would soon call a Council of War to consider the possibility of launching a direct attack on Boston.

U.S. Catholics Getting First Native Saint

By VICTOR L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Writer

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The United States, with the fourth largest Roman Catholic population in the world, is getting its first native born saint after a campaign that began nearly a century ago.

Elizabeth Bayley Seton, born a Protestant Episcopalian in New York City two years before the declaration of independence, will be canonized as a holy person by Pope Paul VI on Sept. 14.

The long-awaited event has set the stage for a massive pilgrimage of Americans to Rome.

More than 14,000 persons have signed on for a special $500 package giving them a charter flight, a week in a Rome hotel and seats in St. Peter's square for the outdoor ceremonies, according to organizers here.

"I don't think there has ever been a pilgrimage quite like this, but it's a joyous event for American Catholics," said The Rev. Joseph I. Dirvin, a spokesman for the committee that has worked to give the United States its first native saint.

Eighty bishops and archbishops are also making the trip to represent the U.S. Catholic hierarchy, including cardinals from New York, Detroit, Boston, Washington, D.C., and Baltimore.

Mother Seton, who lived from 1774 to 1821, was born into the upper crust Protestant society of colonial New York. Her father, Richard Bayley, was a physician and New York's first health officer. Her mother, Catherine Charlton, was the daughter of the Episcopal rector of New York City.

At age 19, she married William M. Seton, eldest son of a wealthy New York importer. But after 10 years of marriage, her husband died of tuberculosis on a trip to Italy in 1803. She was left a widow with five children. She remained for a time in Italy and was drawn to Catholicism.

When she returned to the United States she converted, shocking her Protestant family and friends. Ostracized in New York, she moved to Baltimore.

In 1809 she took vows and founded the Sisters of Charity of St. Joseph, the first American religious order. It has since branched out into one of America's largest communities of religious women.

She also founded a Catholic free school in Emmitsburg, Md., the foundation of the American Catholic parochial school system.

James Cardinal Gibbons, archbishop of Baltimore, first pushed for Mother Seton's sainthood in 1882. Last December, after a secret consistory of 32 cardinals, Pope Paul issued a decree of canonization on her behalf.

Through the years, thousands worked on her cause, researching her life, translating the necessary documentation into Italian and tracking down proofs of miracles as required by the Vatican for her sainthood.

The miracles attributed to her were performed after her death through prayers addressed to God through her.

Mother Seton was declared venerable — the first step to sainthood — by Pope John XXIII in 1959. This became possible after a Vatican tribunal verified a first miracle in which she cured a Catholic nun in Louisiana of cancer in 1835 through miraculous intercession.

Pope John Beatified Mother Seton in 1963 after another Vatican tribunal verified the authenticity of a miracle performed on a 14-year-old Baltimore girl, Ann T. O'Neill, who said Mother Seton cured her of leukemia.

A third miracle, the curing of Carl Eric Kalin of Yonkers,

N.Y., from a rare form of meningitis in 1963, was verified by a commission of theologians in 1974. Pope Paul VI waived a fourth miracle in what was seen as a gesture of good will to the American church, and the road was clear to canonization.

Mother Frances Xavier Cabrini, a native of Italy, was the first U.S. citizen to be canonized in 1946.

Playboy Owner Figures Empire Can Be Saved

Q: How does Hugh Hefner feel with his playboy empire flailing? — B.B., Detroit, Mich.

A: We don't think he'd agree it is. He believes current losses are due to inflation and recession and if he puts his hand firmly back on the helm, he can save the ship. He recently characterized himself as "an idealist and a romantic," probably one of the more moral millionaires around.

Q: What does it take, in terms of time and money, to write a bestseller? — R.C., Phoenix, Ariz.

A: Well, the late Cornelius Ryan spent seven years writing his last one, "A Bridge Too Far." He spent $150,000 in research alone. But it paid off since the bestseller, bought by Joseph Levine, is being made into a $15 million movie.

Q: Do Mappy and Nelson Rockefeller see her children by her former marriage to Dr. James Murphy? — S.K., Rochester, N.Y.

A: Yes, and recently the Vice President has been pulling out all stops to impress his three teen-age stepdaughters, Carol, M. Wendy, 17, and Melinda, 15. The Heary Fords II recently comes questions from reader. While Sloan cannot provide individual answers, questions of general interest will be used in the column. Write to Robin Adams Sloan, care of this newspaper.

HAPPY: Rocky road to royalty.

LIZ & LIZA: Not splitting hairs.

HEF: Nader gender mender.

have a party for the girls in London and the creme de la creme turned out — thanks to the Rockefeller name — we mean people like Prince Charles, Princess Alexandra and her husband, Angus Ogilvy, and all the Dukes and Duchesses of Mayfair.

Q: Someone told me that now that Jackie Onassis is a widow again she will go back to using her Kennedy name. — A.P., Vancouver, B.C.

A: No, Jackie has too much class to do anything quite so improper. It is amazing, however, how many people forget and refer to her as Mrs. John Kennedy. Columnist Art Buchwald did recently in introducing her at the RFX tea last month.

Q: I hear Charles Bronson is now quite chummy about the pleasure he takes. — B.G., Saratoga, N.Y.

A: You bet, Charlie, who has made a fortune in films, now turns down pictures of up to $2 million. If he doesn't like the script. This makes it rather ironic since his next movie is titled "Hard Times." Also, Bronson only likes scripts where his wife, Jill Ireland, can play opposite him. His idea, not hers.

Q: Now that Liz Taylor is back with Richard, what about her kids? — L.O., Forest Hills, N.Y.

A: You wouldn't ever worry about Elizabeth's relationship with her children. They always come first with her. And since they are all crazy about Richard, things are doubtless very happy in the Taylor-Baron ménage. Christopher Wilding and Liam Todd are talented and young artists; she goes to art school in London and he lives with his uncle, Howard Taylor, in Hawaii. Daughter Maria is in school in Switzerland and Michael Wilding Jr. still lives in a Welsh commune.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Steve Anderson couldn't think of what to do for an encore as the 23-year-old Garden Grove, Calif., pianist claimed a world record for continuous guitar playing — 114 hours and 17 minutes.

Anderson entered the endurance "Pic-a-Thon" at a local music store with 57 other contestants Sept. 2. Promoters and Dennis Blakey, of St. Petersburg, Fla., the old record holder at 130 hours 15 minutes, dropped out at 90 hours this year.

Anderson won $2,000 worth of musical equipment in the contest, which allowed entrants a five-minute break every hour.

MARTINA NAVRATILOVA

Navratilova Seeks Political Asylum In U.S.

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — Martina Navratilova says she hopes some day to be the No. 1 woman tennis player in the world, but she can't do it under the restrictive measures of her native Czechoslovakia.

That is the reason, she insists, that she has asked for political asylum in the United States.

"Politics has nothing to do with it, money has nothing to do with it," the 18-year-old budding star from Bernice, near Prague, told a news conference at the West Side Tennis Club Sunday. "It is my decision alone. "I am doing it to enhance my tennis career."

Miss Navratilova disclosed at the U.S. Open championships that she had been considering for months a decision to seek U.S. citizenship but had made the move only last Friday.

Her agent, Fred Berman of Beverly Hills, Calif., filed the papers. The Department of Immigration and Naturalization announced in Washington, D.C., that she had been granted temporary residency in this country pending action on the citizenship application.

Martina, a talented miss who lost a close match to eventual winner Chris Evert in the women's semifinals of the U.S. Open, was poised and outspoken as she related a story of restraint and harassment by sports federation authorities back home.

"They thought I was becoming too Americanized," she said. "They told me they wanted me to finish school. They said I must make tennis second in my life. "I had to ask if I could play in this tournament or that tournament. They kept after me to come home. It was all very frustrating."

"I did not tell them what I was going to do," she said. "I told nobody."

This, she said, included her two best friends on the women's tour, Billie Jean King and Chris Evert.

In Bernice, Martina's stepfather said: "We are crushed. We heard it only today (Sunday), late in the afternoon, but nothing official as yet. I have no comment at this point."

"There were some difficulties, but we did not have an inkling she would take such a step," he said.

Her stepfather is an economical advisor for the government and her mother is an office worker.

Martina has been on the international tour since 1973 when she was 16.

She is just one of numerous athletes who have sought sanctuary from Communist countries. The most famous are Jaroslav Drobný, a Czech and former Wimbledon winner, who defected to England after World War II, and Olga Fikatovala, a Czech discus thrower, who married American hammer thrower Harold Connolly after the 1956 Olympics.

Martina was asked at the news conference what prompted her to want to move to America.

"It's the personal freedom," she replied. "You can work or you don't have to work, as you please. And, if you want to, you can take a trip to Hawaii."

Cubs' Six-Run Spurt Stops Phils

Redlegs Division Champs

From Associated Press
Chalking up another victory enroute to the National League's West Division title was a breeze. The tough part was sitting in the locker room, waiting for the telephone to ring.

And when it finally did, the flag officially belonged to the Cincinnati Reds.

They'd clinched a tie for the crown Sunday with an 8-4 victory over San Francisco, a romp powered by George Foster's four runs batted in.

An hour or so later, the tie was broken. The phone rang and the word came though that Atlanta had beaten second-place Los Angeles 5-4.

"We want Pittsburgh," the Reds' Johnny Bench shouted when word of the title clinching came through...and the chant spread throughout the clubhouse as quickly as the champagne-and-beer shower. "We're number one! Beat the East!"

Manager Sparky Anderson was less than his usually placid self, congratulating the men who have given him his third division title in the past four years. "Nice going, everybody," he shouted, then he shouted even louder when he caught a blast of the bubbly. "Yow, that stuff is cold!"

In the rest of the National League, Pittsburgh remained 5½ games on top in the East by shutting out Montreal 6-0; St. Louis belted New York 12-4; Chicago beat Philadelphia 6-4 and Houston defeated San Diego 3-2.

Marty Perez' two-out tie-breaking single in the ninth inning gave the Braves their victory and officially made Los Angeles an also-ran.

"It has to be our biggest disappointment, coming off last year," said the Dodgers' Steve Yeager, reflecting on the 1974 team that made it into the World Series against Oakland.

First-inning homers by Al Oliver and Dave Parker and Jerry Reuss' four-hit pitching carried Pittsburgh past the Expos. Art Howe added a three-run double in the eighth to wipe out the slightly-bitter taste of hitting into a triple play.

In the fourth, Parker doubled and Richie Zisk walked. Shortstop Tim Lincecum snared Howe's looper to left with an over-the-shoulder catch, then wheeled and fired to second baseman Pete Mackanin to double off Parker for the second out. Mackanin whipped the ball to first baseman Jose Morales to nab Zisk, completing the triple-killing.

Ted Simmons drove in four runs with three singles and Mike Tyson added a three-run homer in the victory that kept the second-place Cardinals within striking distance of Pittsburgh and dropped the fourth-place Mets 7½ games off the pace.

The Phils fell seven games back as Chicago scored six runs in the sixth inning, five unearned on four Philadelphia errors.

Danny Frisella uncorked a bases-loaded wild pitch in the bottom of the ninth inning to give the Astros their victory over the Padres.

CMU Opens Strong, Trounces WMU 34-0

By Associated Press
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Central Michigan opened its inaugural Mid-American Conference campaign with a bang Saturday, trouncing Western Michigan 34-0, and opposing coach Eliot Uzelsac was impressed.

"We knew Central was fast, but they really showed us," the Western mentor said. "There's no question about Central making a challenge for the conference this year."

Central Michigan wasted little time in convincing skeptics that the Chippewas, the national college NCAA Division II football champions last fall, could hold their own in the major-rated MAC.

Led by tailback Walt "Smoke" Hodges, who carried the ball 24 times for 147 yards, Central racked up four touchdowns in the first half enroute to handing Western its first opening game loss in 12 seasons.

"I was extremely pleased with our players, especially our younger players who are new at some positions," said Chippewa Coach Roy Kramer.

"We are really pleased with the way (Ron) Rummel ran the option. He was exceptionally poised."

Hodges and Rummel each scored once. Tailback Dick Dunham carried the ball into the end zone on a one-yard burst and Mike Gray hit pay-dirt twice on short spurts while piling up 73 yards on 16 attempts for the day.

In another game, Ball State, also making its debut in major-school Division I play, downed Eastern Michigan 24-14 as tailback Earl Taylor rushed for 134 yards and scored two touchdowns.

Both teams are MAC

members, but the game did not count in the standings because Eastern Michigan does not play enough league opponents.

The game was nip-and-tuck until the Cardinals broke a 16-14 deadlock in the third period on a 34-yard field goal by Jim Noddeff and padded their lead in the final quarter when Mike Andrews scored a touchdown on a 54-yard pass play.

"We were very nervous the first half because we didn't have a lot of confidence in ourselves, which stemmed from our using a lot of new players," Ball State Coach Dave McClain said.

"We were very tight. Once we were able to loosen them up we were able to move the ball."

Toledo squeaked past non-conference opponent Western Carolina 32-31 in a come-from-behind charge which saw quarterback Gene Swick set two school passing records.

Evert Stops Goolagong For Women's Crown

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — The usually staid center court at the West Side Tennis Club took on the atmosphere of a bull ring.

Manuel Orantes, the 26-year-old left-hander from Barcelona, was the master, making defending champion Jimmy Connors see red in the ring. "Vamos, maestro," hundreds of Spanish-speaking fans shouted. "Manuel, Manuel, Manuel. Orantes, Orantes, Orantes. Ole, ole, ole."

The cheers rang true. Orantes taunted Connors by playing to his two-fisted backhand, kept him at bay on the baseline, then brought him in with drop shots and set him up for the kill.

The 6-4, 6-3, 6-3 victory in the U.S. Open Championships Sunday ended Connors' chances of retaining the title and reigning with his former fiancee, Chris Evert, who won the women's crown on Saturday.

Orantes' victory came less than 18 hours after his "miracle match" with Guillermo Vilas of Argentina. In that under-the-lights semifinal, the third-seeded Orantes came from far behind and beat the second-seeded Vilas 4-6, 1-6, 6-2, 7-5, 6-4.

"I was so excited," Orantes said Sunday of his comeback from death's door against Vilas.

He felt that momentum carried him through Sunday's final.

In his first official act as champion, Orantes rushed to his wife, Virginia, and smothered her with kisses.

"She was more excited than I," he said. "She always stays calm, but after last night she was more tired than I."

The 23-year-old Connors advanced to the final Saturday afternoon with a 7-5, 7-5, 7-5 triumph over Sweden's Bjorn Borg, the No. 5 seed, breaking him in the 12th game of each set.

He then sat on the sidelines and cheered Chris to her 5-7, 6-4, 6-2 triumph over Evonne Goolagong of Australia.

The Evert-Goolagong was a baseline duel that gave Chris her first U.S. Open crown, her 84th straight match on clay and her 18th tournament triumph on the surface without a loss.

Miss Evert, at 20, now has won every major title except the Australian Open, which she says she probably will never win because she doesn't want to travel Down Under during the Christmas holidays.

Miss Evert's victory was worth $25,000. She received another $900 as a semifinalist in the women's doubles. Not counting accessories and endorsements, she has banked a record $290,827 so far this year.

Miss Goolagong, now a three-time runner-up at Forest Hills, earned $12,000, increasing her 1975 earnings to $108,109.

Orantes, No. 2 on the Grand Prix of Tennis championship points list, earned $25,000 for his victory, increasing his year's earnings to $131,400, while Connors' $12,000 as runner-up pushed his total earnings, including challenge matches, to $567,009.

Estrada Leads Denver Past Evansville

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP) — Manny Estrada's 12th-inning double scored the winning run Sunday night and Steve Dunning pitched the distance as Denver topped Evansville 4-3 in American Association baseball playoff action.

The victory cut the Triplets series lead three games to two.

Dunning scattered 11 hits and struck out six in winning his second playoff game to bring the Bears back from the verge of elimination in the best-of-seven series.

Evansville tied the game 3-3 in the eighth when Bob Molinaro tripled and Boots Day scored.

Reliever Ike Brookens took the loss.

The Triplets are the top farm club for the Detroit Tigers.

Hunter Shutouts O's To Post 20th Victory Chisox Ripped; Tigers Drop Two

BALTIMORE (AP) — Jim "Catfish" Hunter may well be headed for the Baseball Hall of Fame some day. But right now, he's more interested in going fishing in the woods near his Bedford, N.C., home.

"Let's see," the ace of the New York Yankees said Sunday after becoming a 20-game winner for the fifth consecutive year. "If the season ends at 5 o'clock on Sept. 28, I should be in the woods by 5 a.m. the next day."

For the first time in five years, Hunter won't be involved in the American League playoffs or the World Series. But that hasn't stopped him from turning in another fine season.

The 29-year-old farm boy has now joined Walter Johnson and Lefty Grove as the only pitchers in the 75-year history of the American League to notch at least five straight 20-victory seasons.

"I've wanted to get up there with the greats all my life," Hunter said after beating the Baltimore Orioles on a 2-0 six-hitter. "Maybe if I keep on, I can stay up there."

After being declared a free agent and signing a celebrated $7.5 million deal, the former Oakland A's pitcher has more than upheld his end of the pact with the Yanks—who have a 71-71 record.

Hunter, who has lost 13, has pitched a career-high seven shutouts and is the first 20-game winner for New York since Fritzie Peterson in 1970. His 27 complete games is the most by a Yankee since Carl Mays had 30 in 1924.

"I think I've pitched as good this year as I did with Oakland," Hunter said. "But I was happy to come off my bad start. I was getting a little worried."

Hunter said he was well aware of his possible date with destiny, in joining Johnson and Grove. His four brothers first brought it up just after the 1974 season, and his lawyer did again before Sunday's game.

Now, the brothers will have something special to talk about when they head for the woods on Sept. 29, along with Shirley, Jack, Yellow Gal, Big Boy and Dan—the favorites among Hunter's hunting dogs.

Hunter, chivalrous and humble, said he owes all his success to his supporting cast. It's hard to believe that Hunter, either the fisherman or the pitcher, has ever cast a longer line or told a taller tale.

"It feels great, but I owe it to the team behind me," said Hunter, who turned in the A's green and gold for the Yankee pinstripes and got a lot of green and gold for doing it. "To Oakland for the first four seasons, and to the Yankees this year. A pitcher is only as good as his team."

The Yankees are thinking about next year while his former teammates are looking toward another World Series.

The Kansas City Royals, five games behind the A's, charge into Oakland tonight riding an eight-game winning streak. On Sunday, the Royals beat the California Angels 8-7 in 11 innings.

Elsewhere in the AL, Oakland beat Texas 4-1 and 7-3; Cleveland took a pair from Detroit, 7-2 and 9-0; Boston beat Milwaukee 6-3; then lost 7-3, and Minnesota pounded Chicago 9-1.

The powerless Angels must have been envious Sunday when

Kansas City blasted five home runs, three by Tony Solaita, whose 11th-inning RBI single was the game-winner, and two from John Mayberry, major league leader with 33 homers.

"Our bullpen has kept us in the race all year," Oakland Manager Alvin Dark said following a doubleheader sweep of Texas.

Dick Bosman, with shutout relief help from Jim Todd over the final 3 and 2-3 innings, won the first game, and Sonny Siebert, with relief help from Paul Lindblad, Todd and Rolfe Fingers, won the second game.

Steve Brye returned to the Minnesota lineup with a boot. Brye, making his first plate appearances in two months after being on the disabled list, pinch hit an inside-the-park home run, then in his next at bat, he slugged a conventional over-the-wall shot.

George Scott slugged a three-run homer to lead Milwaukee over Boston in the second game after the Red Sox whipped the Brewers in the opener on Carlton Fisk's tie-breaking double.

Oscar Gamble and George Hendrick were the hitting stars in Cleveland's slugfest over Detroit. Gamble cracked a triple and a homer and drove in three runs as Fritz Peterson won his eighth straight game with a six-hitter. Hendrick drove in three runs with his 21st homer and a single in the 10th.

The Lions' preseason record fell to 1-4 Saturday, while Cincinnati evened its mark at 3-3, as the Bengals had little trouble beating Detroit 22-14 before 58,307 persons in the new 80,400-seat Pontiac Metropolitan Stadium.

Only two events were exciting enough to elicit wild applause from the often-booming fans.

Defensive end Larry Hand's 57-yard touchdown run with a recovered fumble midway through the final period.

A rather well-endowed young woman's decision to bare her assets. Security guards hauled her away as the crowd yelled its displeasure.

"I didn't see anything that looked good at all," said Forzano, who obviously wasn't looking in the stands during the topless disturbance.

"I thought our defense was terrible," he said. "I thought our tackling was bad. We dropped passes. We were offside. We had penalties. We were just a bad football team today."

The reason?

"I don't know what it would be," he said. "There's no excuse for it, none whatsoever."

"These people are professional football players. I'm a professional football coach and they're supposed to play on Sunday."

Perhaps the Lions weren't prepared because it was only Saturday?

Perhaps Detroit wasn't prepared because it simply isn't any good?

"We did play poorly and the fans deserve to boo," Forzano said.

In all fairness, Cincinnati is considered a playoff contender. Also in all fairness, Detroit is considered a cellar contender.

Such a combination helped prompt the fans to spend much of the game thumbing through their 180-page program instead of watching the action—most of which was produced by the Bengals.

"I think it was a spirited, worthy game," Cincinnati Coach Paul Brown said. "Really I do."

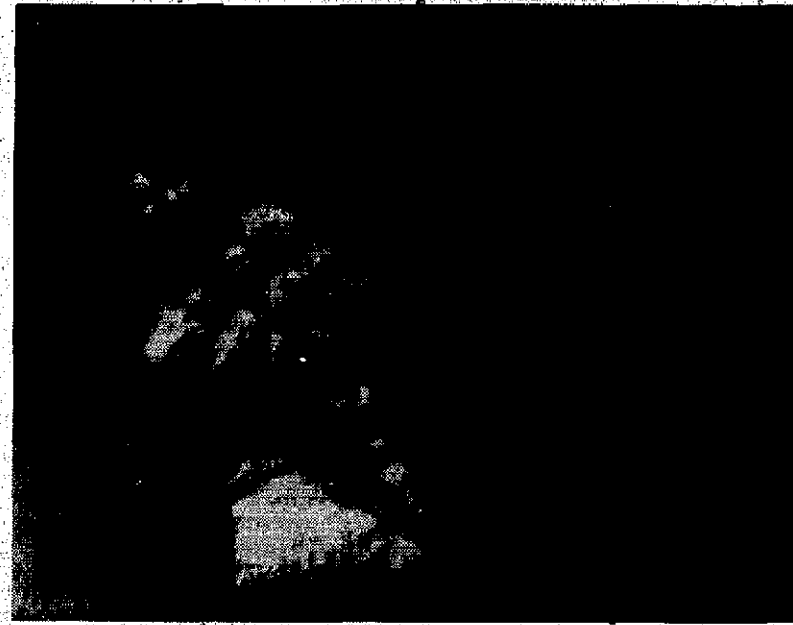

Bengal quarterback Ken Anderson completed 16 of 31 passes for 188 yards and one touchdown, a 14-yard swing pass to fullback Boobie Clark who bulled through sloppy tackling attempts to score 14 seconds before halftime.

Cincinnati had breezed 54 yards in just six plays for that TD after the Lions went on the board for the first time with Al Taylor's one-yard plunge.

Dave Green booted field goals of 35, 37 and 19 yards in the first, second and third quarters for the Bengals. They scored their first points midway through the opening period on a nine-yard halfback pass from Stan Fritts to tight end Bob Trumpy.

Greg Landry played the first half and Joe Reed most of the second at quarterback for Detroit.

"Joe performed pretty well," Forzano said, in a weak moment.

Cincinnati Claws Punchless Lions

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — The latest dismal Detroit Lions' National Football League exhibition football performance made one thing very clear, and a candid Coach Rick Forzano wasn't afraid to articulate it:

"It means we better do something in a hurry or we're gonna get our butts whipped good."

The Lions' preseason record fell to 1-4 Saturday, while Cincinnati evened its mark at 3-3, as the Bengals had little trouble beating Detroit 22-14 before 58,307 persons in the new 80,400-seat Pontiac Metropolitan Stadium.

Watson Wins World Series

Holds Off Nicklaus To Post Two Stroke Victory

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Tom Watson, an intelligent and usually highly articulate young man, seemed almost at a loss for words.

"It's a great feeling to have," he said, then paused. "It's very hard to put into words, to describe just what it means."

"I can tell you this. It means a very great deal, it gives you a very good feeling inside, to know that you've won when you're facing players the caliber of Jack Nicklaus, Tom Weiskopf and Lou Graham."

Of those major title-holders, only Nicklaus was a threat to Watson in Sunday's final round of the World Series of Golf and his bid fizzled and failed in a series of frustrations that had the usually self-contained Nicklaus, scowling, muttering and, at least once, angrily tossing his club.

Watson, one of the game's brightest young stars, held him off with a solid, last-round 71 and won by two strokes in the last World Series to be played under its exclusive, four-man format.

"I think the change will be good," the red-haired, 25-year-old Watson said. "It's great to have just the four winners of the major titles, but I think it will be even better to have the others in the tournament, the foreign players, the amateur champions, the point leaders, the double winners."

The tournament which, for the last 14 years, brought together only the holders of the major titles, will expand its format to include some 28-30 players next season. Watson, as the defending World Series of Golf champion, is the first qualifier.

He won this one by a relatively comfortable two strokes with a 140 total, matching par on the tough, 7,180-yard Firestone Country Club course.

Nicklaus, the Masters and PGA title-holder and a heavy pretournament favorite, birdied the last two holes for a 70 and was second at 142.

Weiskopf, the Canadian national champion, and Graham, the U.S. Open King, never really got in the chase for the $50,000 first prize. Weiskopf had a closing 70 and a 145 total. Graham was 71-147. Nicklaus, who now has won this title four times and been second in six others, collected $15,000. Weiskopf won $7,500 and Graham got $5,000.

PORTSMOUTH, Va. — Australian Kel Nagle birdied three of the last seven holes to defeat Charlie Sifford 1-up in the World Professional Seniors Golf Championship.

Co-Captain Lost In 'M' Scrimmage

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — A rugged football scrimmage Saturday cost Michigan one of its key players, offensive guard Kirk Lewis, and a third string quarterback.

Lewis, a 6-foot-3, 240-pound senior from Garden City, was elected co-captain by his teammates Friday night. Defensive back Don Dufek was elected the Wolverines' other co-captain.

Lewis, a two-year letterman and academic All-American, apparently is lost for season with his lower right arm broken in two places. He underwent surgery Saturday night.

Coach Bo Schembechler said Lewis is carrying a 3.44 scholastic average in Michigan's accelerated medical school program.

"No scrimmage and no practice is ever worth losing a player like Kirk Lewis," a dejected Schembechler said.

Third string quarterback John Ceddia, a junior from Cincinnati, suffered a shoulder separation and also will miss most or all of the season, a UM spokesman said.

Schembechler said he felt the team was a little behind where he would like it to be, mainly because of rainy weather and injuries.

Ball Traded To Detroit

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — Linebacker Larry Ball, a four-year Miami Dolphins veteran who played college ball at the University of Louisville, was acquired Sunday by the Detroit Lions for an undisclosed draft choice.

Ball, a 6-foot-6, 235-pounder, was Miami's fourth pick in the 1972 National Football League draft.

A player must be dropped from the squad to make room for Ball. A Lions' spokesman said that decision would be announced today.

scoring twice on one-yard plunges while backup signal-caller Lawson scored on runs of 27 and six yards.

"This was the best scrimmage so far this fall," Stolz said. "I feel good about it, seeing that we had no major injuries during the afternoon."

"We are just about on schedule. Now we can begin full game preparations for next week's opener."

The Spartans launch the Big Ten season next Saturday against Ohio State at East Lansing.

Stolz, who used nearly every player on the squad, said he also was pleased with the Spartans' defensive unit.

Senior quarterback Tyrone Willingham at 5-8 and 156 pounds is the smallest member of Michigan State's 1975 varsity.

Tony Oliva opened with a single to center, then Knapp got Dave McKay on a fly to center and walked Danny Thompson on four pitches.

"After Mike Poepping waved at a 3-2 pitch for the secondout, Glenn Borgman singled just out of the reach of shortstop Bucky Dent to score John Briggs who ran for Oliva.

Steve Brye walked on a 3-2 pitch to load the bases, then Jerry Terrell fanned on a 3-2 pitch.

Alabama Meets Missouri On TV Tonight

Fledgling 'Big Timers' Impressive

From ASSOCIATED PRESS
Five newcomers made their debut in the world of major college football Saturday, and while the opposition wasn't on the Oklahoma-Alabama level, the fledgling "big-timers" came away with an impressive 3-1 record.

Central Michigan, last year's national College Division champion, trounced Western Michigan 34-0 in a Mid-American Conference game; Ball State trimmed Eastern Michigan 24-14, also in the MAC; and Arkansas State swamped Northwestern Louisiana 42-0. Meanwhile, Northeast Louisiana battled to a 3-3 tie with Pacific, while Fullerton State was ripped by Fresno State 49-7 in a Pacific Coast Athletic Association contest.

Only three members of The Associated Press Top Twenty were in action—second-ranked Alabama faces Missouri tonight in a nationally televised game (ABC-TV, 9 p.m. EDT)—and all posted victories, although sixth-ranked Penn State had to rally in the fourth period to edge intrastate rival Temple 26-25. North Carolina State, rated 13th, whipped East Carolina 28-3 and No. 17 Maryland buried Villanova 41-0.

The opening weekend of the 1975 campaign was marred by tragedy when tight end Chris Angeloff of Akron collapsed and died during the Zips' 20-8 victory over Marshall.

Elsewhere, Baylor got past Mississippi 20-10, Pitt downed Georgia 19-9, Mississippi State held off Memphis State 17-7, Houston beat Lamar 20-3, San Diego State drubbed Texas-El Paso 31-10, North Carolina crushed William & Mary 33-7 and Southern Methodist shaded Wake Forest 14-7.

Herman McCall gained 84 yards in 25 carries to pace Hillsdale's 11-2 victory over Ferris State.

McCall scored the only touchdown of the Great Lakes Conference contest with a three-yard plunge in the first quarter. Quarterback Marc Comstock tossed a pass to Ron Parker for the two-point conversion.

The game turned into a defensive duel in the second half, with Hillsdale settling for a 20-yard John Quaderer field goal in the final period.

The only Bulldog score came in the fourth quarter on a safety. Loren Primm scored a pair of touchdowns to lead Northern Michigan to a 34-0 non-conference victory over Wisconsin-Whitewater. The victory broke an 11-game NMU losing streak, which stretched back to the 1973 season.

Fullback Stu Bets went three yards for another score and defensive halfback Paul Cucinotto intercepted a Whitewater pass and returned it 28 yards for Northern's fourth touchdown. Dan Harves added a pair of fourth-quarter field goals to round out the scoring.

Tim Baker gained 138 yards as Olivet overcame a 15-point deficit for a 47-13 non-conference victory over St. Joseph's of Rensselaer, Ind.

Baker got Olivet, the Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association defending champ, rolling on a 42-yard touchdown run in the third quarter. Mark Jones scored the second touchdown in the fourth quarter, and Frank Mohacs put the game away on a 24-yard field goal later in the period.

Tech Grabs Win In Odd Fashion

Strange Holding Penalty Provides Difference

From ASSOCIATED PRESS
Michigan Tech's 2-0 victory over Northwood was more like a baseball score than a football score.

But the strange score, coming on a penalty call which resulted in a second quarter safety, gave the Huskies the only points they needed in the non-conference game as the college football season got under way Saturday.

With Tech in possession at the Northwood four-yard line, quarterback Bob North's pass was picked off by Al Greene in the end zone. Greene returned the ball to the Northwood 27 before being tackled.

But a Northwood defender was detected holding, after the interception and in the end zone, and officials ruled the play dead there with Northwood in possession, thus giving Tech its safety.

In other games across the state Saturday, Wayne State beat Grand Valley State 15-0; Hillsdale took Ferris State 11-2; Northern Michigan romped over Wisconsin-Whitewater 34-0; and Olivet edged St. Joseph (Ind.) 17-13.

Ed Skowneski scored both Wayne State touchdowns to lead the Tartars to 15-0 victory over Grand Valley State in a Great Lakes Conference opener.

Skowneski scampered 61 yards on the third play of the second half to give Wayne State a 6-3 lead. He clinched the victory with a one-yard sneak with 2:32 to play. Wayne added three insurance points on a 35-yard field goal by Bill Kelley with 24 seconds left in the game. Grand Valley had to settle for a pair of field goals from freshman sidewinder Roger McCoy.

Canadian 'Outdrags' Garlits For Title

ROCKINGHAM, N.C. (AP) — Canadian champion Gary Beck of Edmonton, Alta., upset Don "Big Daddy" Garlits Sunday in the finals of the International Hot Rod Association's U.S. Open National drag racing championships.

Wally Booth of Berkeley, Mich., was another winner, defeating veteran Lee Edwards of Carleton, Va., for the pro stock title.

Beck won with a speed of 230.34 miles per hour and was timed at 6.21 seconds. Garlits' speed was 226.84 m.p.h.

Garlits, of Tampa, Fla., has been defeated twice this season, both times by Beck.

The Canadian confided he used a special formula that included carburetion and gamesmanship. "You've got to have everything to beat Garlits," he said. "It's like beating Jack Nicklaus in golf or Muhammed Ali in boxing."

You've got to be better than the best."

Charles Lee, a little-known driver from Kannapolis, N.C., beat nationally known Dale Pulde of Mesa, Ariz., for the Funny Car championship.

More than 50,000 persons attended the three-day IHRA Winston Challenge event at Rockingham Dragway despite storm warnings and storm clouds.

Beck won with a speed of 230.34 miles per hour and was timed at 6.21 seconds. Garlits' speed was 226.84 m.p.h.

Hansen Captures Trans-Am Race

BRAINERD, Minn. (AP) — Jerry Hansen of Wayzata, Minn., captured the 33-lap Trans-Am feature Sunday at the Land-O-Lakes Region Sports Club of America races at Brainerd International Speedway.

Vince Muzzin of Northville, Mich., collected the $4,100 first place check in the 15-lap Formula Ford race while Bill Brack of Toronto zipped to the 30-lap victory in Formula Atlantic Formula B competition.

Drake 14-10 and Wichita State surprised West Texas State 14-10.

Penn State, a two-touchdown favorite, took an 18-13 lead over Temple on the first of Duane Taylor's short scoring runs but trailed 23-18 in the final period. However, Woody Petchel's 68-yard punt return set up a three-yard scoring burst by Taylor and John Andress' two-point conversion pass provided the margin of victory.

"I thought Temple dominated the game," said Penn State Coach Joe Paterno. "They played better defense than I expected. They executed better than we did early. They hustled, hit hard and came off the ball well."

Maryland sophomore Mark Manges passed for 280 yards and a school-record four touchdowns as the Terrapins spoiled Dick Bedesem's debut as Villanova's head coach. Manges hit Vince Kinney for 46 and 41 yards, Tim Wilson for 25 and John Schultz for 38.

Baylor posted its first opening-game triumph since 1966 when Cleveland Franklin and Pat McNeil scored second-period touchdowns and the Bears held on to defeat Ole Miss despite the loss of quarterback Mark Jackson, who suffered a broken collarbone.

Tony Dorsett, held to 17 yards in the first half, exploded for runs of 27 and 36 yards to set up second-half scores as Pitt overtook Georgia.

Bigelow Takes First, But Finishes Second

From Associated Press

At 35, Tom Bigelow, pint-sized as drivers go at 5-foot-9 and 185 pounds, finally has gained some measure of recognition by again doing something he feels has cost him recognition in the past—finishing second.

The personable Whitewater, Wis., racer won the biggest race of his career Saturday, the prestigious Hoosier 100, for the type of roadsters run in the Indianapolis 500 15 years ago.

Despite that victory, and two other triumphs in the five-race series, Bigelow was runnerup for the third straight year in the U.S. Auto Club division that has had the likes of A.J. Foyt, Al Unser and Mario Andretti as champions in the past.

Bigelow, who has also finished second in the U.S. Auto Club sprint and midget divisions in recent years, trailed steady Jimmy Caruthers this time.

Meanwhile, Niki Lauda had a first in Formula 1 racing. The Austrian wheeled his Ferrari to a third-place finish—behind Clay Regazzoni of Switzerland and Brazil's Emerson Fittipaldi—in Sunday's Italian Grand Prix at Monza and gained enough points to clinch the prestigious world driving championship. He dethroned last year's champ, Fittipaldi.

Caruthers finished third, behind Bigelow and Foyt, a six-time winner in his 19 appearances in the 100-mile, $50,000 race at the Indiana State Fairgrounds mile track.

"Winning this race is very important to me," said Bigelow, who earned about $10,000. "I'm still not sure how I can win three races and still finish second in the championship again."

Bigelow, winner of more than $5 USAC races, said he would like more than anything now to make some improvement in his showings on the Indianapolis car circuit.

Regazzoni, wheeling a Ferrari, led from start to finish in the Italian Grand Prix and finished 16.6 seconds ahead of Fittipaldi, in a McLaren, with the 28-year-old Lauda only another 23.2 seconds.

In other weekend racing, Ramo Stott finally overtook four-time USAC stockcar champ Butch Hartman in the driving title chase with a second-place finish, behind winner Larry Moore, in a 250-mile race at Milwaukee.

To capture his fifth straight title, Hartman must now win the season finale Sept. 21 at Trenton, N.J., with Stott finishing no higher than fourth.

The 40-year-old Foyt, meanwhile, made another of his increasing rarer dirt track appearances in Sunday's 23rd annual Hut Hundred USAC midget race at Terre Haute, Ind.

Foyt, who last drove a midget nearly a year ago, was the fastest qualifier, and led the race until his car started to sputter. Pancho Carter came on to win the 50-mile event.

Monsoon-like weather at Richmond, Va., forced rescheduling of Sunday's Capital City 500 Grand National stock car race, under the auspices of the National Association for Stock Car Auto Racing, to Oct. 12. The 29 starting positions remain frozen, with Benny Parsons in the pole position.

Csonka Substitute Rushes Right In

Larry Csonka makes his presence felt, even when he doesn't get into the game.

With Csonka sidelined because of a groin injury, his understudy, Willie Spencer, stepped right in and rushed for 142 yards to lead the Memphis Grizzlies to a 37-17 victory over the Hawaiians.

The triumph gave Memphis a one-half game lead over Birmingham in the World Football League's Eastern Division.

Meanwhile, the San Antonio Wings beat the Southern California Sun 30-8 to take a halfgame lead over the Sun in the Western Division.

In Saturday night's games, the Jacksonville Express beat the Shreveport Steamer 22-15, the Charlotte Hornets beat the Philadelphia Bell 10-6, and the Birmingham Vulcans topped the Portland Thunder 28-6.

Spencer, a 230-pounder, was named the game's outstanding player. He carried 15 times before leaving the game in the fourth quarter with a bruised rib.

"The holes were open and I was running well," said Spencer, who credit's Csonka's tutoring with much of his success. "It was a great day—except for the injury."

The other members of the Miami Three, the trio of defectors from the National Football League's Miami Dolphins, made more tangible contributions to Memphis' success.

Jim Kwik rushed for two touchdowns and 108 yards, while Paul Warfield caught a 14-yard scoring pass, one of two thrown by Danny White. The other was a 29-yarder to Gary Shirk.

Johnnie Walton threw three touchdown passes, including two to Willie Frazier, to lead San Antonio to victory. Walton teamed with Donnie Joe Walker for San Antonio's first touchdown, then threw scoring passes of 17 and eight yards to Frazier.

Anthony Davis gained 96 yards on 21 carries for the Sun.

Alfred Haywood carried 19 times for 123 yards and George Mira hit on 18 of 32 passes for 188 yards to lead the Express to victory. Haywood dove across from the one midway through the fourth quarter to give Jacksonville the lead, then Charlie Durkee capped the scoring with a 42-yard field goal.

Don Highsmith gained 101 yards on 20 carries for Charlotte and scored the game's only touchdown on a 27-yard scamper on the second play of the final period. Pete Rajacki's fifth field goal of the season without a miss, from 37 yards, provided the other points.

Art Cantrell ran for three touchdowns— from 1, 5 and 10 yards out—for Birmingham, which jumped out to a 23-0 lead and coasted home. He gained 79 yards on 20 carries.

Green Takes Southern Open

COLUMBUS, Ga. (AP) — Young veteran Hubert Green played like a super star to capture the Southern Open golf tournament but denied that he was a member of that group shortly after his first triumph in 1975.

"You've got to win the major tournaments to be a super star," said the 38-year-old Green, who overcame a one-stroke deficit Sunday to capture the $25,000 first prize with a scorching 64 for a tourney record 284, 16 under par.

Mann Dallas Winner

DALLAS (AP) — Richer by $5,400 after her victory in the $40,000 Dallas Civitan Women's Open Golf Tournament, Carol Mann takes off Tuesday for Japan and the U.S.-Japan pro matches at Yokohama.

"We're going to beat the Japanese," said the popular president of the Ladies PGA. "We're going to put it on 'em."

Miss Mann shot a rather uneventful one-under par 71 Sunday over the 6,336-yard Brookhaven Country Club course here to take her second Civitan tournament ever, and win her fourth tour event of the year.

The victory was the 38th of her career, and boosted her 1975 LPGA winnings to $90,202, third on the list.

Miss Mann's 67-70-71—208 won the Civitan by five strokes and was the best winning score in the tournament since it has been played at Brookhaven.

Sandra Palmer, the LPGA's top money winner thus far in 1975, finished with a 73 Sunday for a 54-hole total of 213. She earned $4,300.

Miss Palmer pulled within one stroke of Miss Mann when she scored a birdie on the seventh hole. But Miss Palmer could never catch up as Miss Mann put the match on ice with birdies at the 7th, 9th and 10th holes.

The successive birdies, which

Injury Sidelines New England's Plunkett Snead, Hayes Spark 49ers' Win

From ASSOCIATED PRESS
Norm Snead and Bob Hayes, two players who were shunted aside by other National Football League clubs, are providing new spark for the San Francisco 49ers.

Snead, 36, and Hayes, 32, connected on touchdown passes of 18 and 31 yards in the first half and the 49ers went on to whip the Denver Broncos 44-10 in NFL preseason play Sunday.

"That young fellow Snead knows what's going on out there," said Hayes jokingly.

The 49ers picked up Snead from the New York Giants midway through the 1974 season, then obtained Hayes from Dallas over the summer. Both of their old clubs felt the players were past their prime.

"In Dallas, they were saying I was finished," said Hayes. "I hope I proved to the fans here that I'm not."

In other games Sunday, Cleveland beat the New York Giants 24-20, New England defeated San Diego 31-24 and the New York Jets edged Washington 35-31.

The weekend of exhibition play opened Friday night, when Oakland stretched its record to 5-0 by beating Dallas 31-20.

On Saturday, Kansas City whipped Green Bay 31-3, Buffalo edged Atlanta 16-14, Los Angeles overpowered Philadelphia 35-0, Pittsburgh topped New Orleans 24-13, St. Louis downed Minnesota 13-8, Miami beat Chicago 21-10 and Cincinnati defeated Detroit, 22-14.

The schedule concludes tonight when Baltimore plays at Houston.

"I don't think there are any more critics of my quarterback choice," said San Francisco Coach Dick Nolan, referring to his decision last week to go with Snead, who is entering his 15th pro campaign, as the 49ers' No. 1 quarterback ahead of Steve Spurrier.

Snead came through beautifully against Denver, completing 12 of 16 passes for 139 yards before leaving early in the second half. Snead took advantage of three Denver turnovers in the second quarter to roll up 23 points and break the game open.

Cleveland reserve quarterback Brian Sipe completed 15 of 18 passes for 143 yards, including a seven-yard touchdown pass to Gary Tarris in the third period that put the Browns ahead for good.

Cleveland's Walt McKinnis rushed for 98 yards on 19 carries and scored once, on a one-yard plunge.

It was New York's first loss of the exhibition season, and Coach Bill Arnsparger explained it this way: "We didn't play well — we stunk throughout the game."

Leon McQuay, picked up on waivers recently from the New York Giants, scored three touchdowns in the second half as New England overcame a 17-7 deficit. McQuay ran back the second-half kickoff 101 yards, then scored on runs from scrimmage of five and 58 yards.

It was a costly win for New England: quarterback Jim Plunkett suffered a shoulder separation when he was tackled in the second quarter. He'll be out three to four weeks.

Joe Namath, making his first appearance in three weeks, led the Jets to a 21-14 halftime lead, then the defense took over for two fourth quarter scores to turn back Washington's rally.

After the Redskins had gone ahead 24-21, safety Delles Howell ran back an interception 37 yards for a touchdown and linebacker Godwin Turk blocked a punt to set up Bob Gresham's nine-yard run.

Namath completed 12 of 28 passes for 219 yards, while Randy Johnson fired the Washington comeback by hitting 11 of 21 for 100 yards.

Mike Livingston may have finally put an end to Kansas City's long search for a No. 1 quarterback. He hit on 12 of 17 passes for 157 yards, did not give up an interception and guided the Chiefs to three first-period touchdowns that made the win over the Packers easy.

Coach Paul Wiggins, who is testing four QB candidates, wouldn't concede the top spot to Livingston, but did say, "Mike threw the ball darn good."

John Leybold's third field goal of the game, a 17-yarder in the final minute, lifted Buffalo over Atlanta.

Steve Bartkowski, the No. 1 pick in the college draft, made his first start for Atlanta and was less than impressive, completing just three of 11 pass attempts with three interceptions.

"I wish I had an excuse, but I don't," the rookie from California said. "I was just down. I didn't have it."

James Harris guided Los Angeles to three touchdowns in the second quarter in the Rams' one-sided victory over Philadelphia.

Roman Gabriel, who played 11 years for the Rams before being dealt to Philadelphia two years ago, was greeted by a noisy mixture of boos and cheers in his first appearance in Los Angeles since 1972.

Before leaving with a bruised elbow early in the third quarter, he completed five of nine passes for 37 yards with one interception. He was sacked four times.

BONEFISH'S CAREER ENDS: Bonefish, shown winning the third heat of the recent Hambletonian trotting classic, suffered a severe throat hemorrhage Friday night which ended his racing career. The horse, recently sold for $1 million for stud duties, was examined by veterinarian Dr. Paul Nolan who said Saturday there was no immediate danger of losing the valuable trotter. (AP Wirephoto)

'Kokomo Plan' Due For Mailmen

By JEFFREY MILLS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Postal Service is moving to impose a new mail-delivery system that is resented bitterly by the nation's 200,000 letter carriers, a union leader says.

President James H. Rademacher of the National Association of Letter Carriers said he has been informed by Postmaster General Benjamin F. Bailar that the Postal Service will move to implement the controversial Kokomo Plan.

Rademacher said Bailar told him that an announcement of the decision would be made at today's National Postal Forum in Washington.

The Kokomo Plan, a computerized program designed to increase the efficiency of letter carriers, "amounts to a 20 per cent. speedup," Rademacher said in an interview.

Rademacher said Bailar told him that the Postal Service had decided to move from the testing stage to implementation. "Undoubtedly, the Postal Service wants to move on this nationwide," Rademacher said.

When the Postal Service began testing the program, the letter carriers union voted to strike if the plan is implemented nationally, despite a federal law prohibiting postal workers from striking.

However, a recently concluded labor agreement provided for binding arbitration before new work rules are put into practice.

Rademacher said his union would not strike while the arbitration continues. Asked whether it would strike if the arbitration ruling goes against the union, Rademacher said,

"We'll cross that bridge when we come to it."

The Kokomo plan involves taking computerized measurements of the number of letters delivered, miles walked and other factors on each mailman's route. Then the routes are restructured so that each carrier would have to do equal amounts of work.

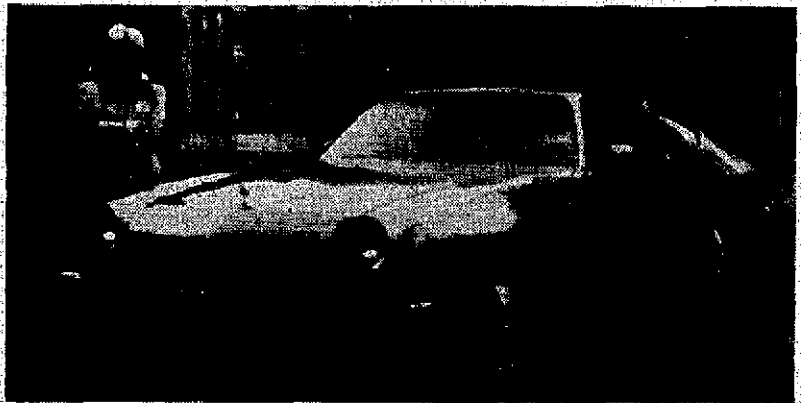

The Postal Service tested the plan first in Kokomo, Ind., and then in Portland, Ore. Union members in both cities complained about the plan, known formally as the Letter Carrier Route Evaluation System.

Rademacher said, "The plan is not working in Portland." He said that since the tests began at the Rose City Station in Portland half the carriers have asked for transfers to other stations.

The Postal Service removed about 40 hours of carrier work in putting in the test. There has been daily overtime averaging between 30 and 40 hours. The hours that have been eliminated have been replaced by overtime. There is no economy in such a move and the morale factor is extremely serious," Rademacher said.

Referring to the heavy postal deficits, Rademacher said the issue in the arbitration would be "whether work rules can be changed unilaterally because the Postal Service is going broke."

Teacher Found Slain In Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — A 25-year-old junior high school teacher was found shot to death in her Detroit apartment in what police termed an execution-style murder possibly linked to drugs.

Yvette Ingram was found in an apartment bedroom by two friends around midnight Saturday, police said.

Police said they found 25 pounds of marijuana, detailed records of marijuana deals and drug paraphernalia. Miss Ingram, a ninth-grade teacher at Burroughs Junior High School, had been shot twice in the back of the head. She was pronounced dead at the scene.

Homicide Detective Sgt. Edward Gale said Sunday that a preliminary investigation indicated Miss Ingram may have been selling marijuana.

But he added police do not believe she was dealing in or used hard drugs.

Found Beaten

VISTA, Calif. (AP) — The niece of the president of the Curtis Publishing Co. has been found beaten to death in a home here where she was vacationing, San Diego County sheriff's deputies reported. The victim was Sandra Jean Servaes, 28, of Indianapolis, a former managing editor of Holiday magazine.

BUILDS FURNACE, CAR

Herman's Exertions Save Energy

By W. GARDNER WHEELER
SUTTONS BAY, Mich. (AP) — John A. Herman is using a lot of his own energy to save energy.

The former farmer, garage mechanic and homebuilder fixed nine years ago at age 33, but he's busier than ever, inventing devices miserly in the use of energy.

The things John Herman invents aren't Mickey Mouse items. They're big ticket things such as a battery-powered car or a furnace that heats his three-bedroom, ranch-style house in winter on just two logs a day.

The Herman furnace, which he has patented, is successful enough that his sons Leonard and Louis are starting to turn them out commercially. Until now, Herman has made and sold about 20 of his furnaces for about $400 each.

The car, a small one with a sheet-metal body, is powered by a direct drive army surplus motor deriving current from four six-volt batteries. Herman says it will go 25 to 30 miles an hour in either forward or reverse gear.

He has no plans to manufacture it and built it only for fun for his own use.

His main pride seems to be the furnace. The all-steel heater, measuring 24 inches by 24 inches by 64 inches tall, features a brick firepot especially baffled to capture the most heat from burning wood.

Herman invites you to feel the stovepipe.

"It's cooler than the jacket of the furnace," he claimed. And it was.

The real success of the furnace can be seen from the size of his heating bill. He burns an estimated eight cords of wood a year. A cord is about one-third of a cord.

"If I had to buy the wood, it would cost me $15 a cord or $120 a year. But I cut it off my own property," Herman said, referring to his wooded property south of Suttons Bay.

This compares, Herman said, with old-time wood burning furnaces that burn 30 cords of wood a year.

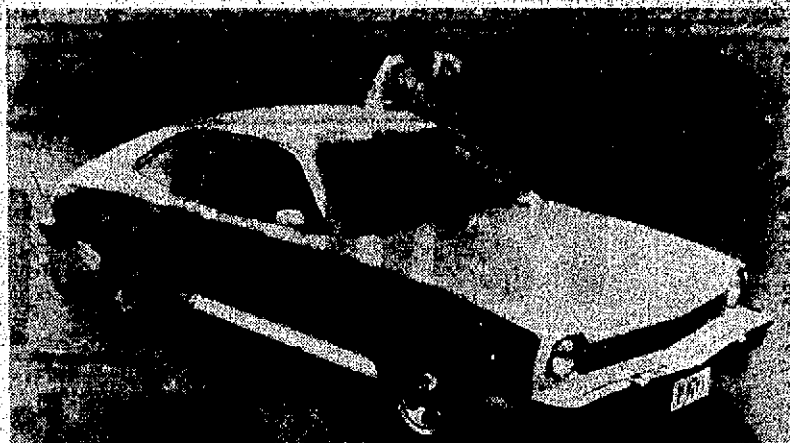

Herman's electric bill has been cut in half for household lighting by the installation of a wind-driven generator atop his house which powers two six-volt batteries. These provide more amperage than one 12-volt unit.

Most of his time now is spent working on his car. Sporting four motorcycle tires, the car is his second battery vehicle. He also built a motorized adult tricycle. He plans to add a windshield and cloth top to the car after he finishes work on the brakes.

Using current from the windcharger, Herman will recharge the batteries at home overnight.

"I think the car will take me more than 25 miles on a charge, although I haven't tried it that far yet," he said.

In addition, he plans an auxiliary source of power for the car — a gasoline lawnmower which will run a small charger, "just in case I run short of current to get home on."

PINTO: 1976 Pinto is a fuel saver with its economical 2.3-liter four-cylinder TV engine and four-speed manual transmission. It features a new front appearance with an "eggcrate" grille design, a new Squire option on the Runabout, showing above, new interiors with low-back seats and colorful plaid cloth seating surfaces.

JOHN P. ROCHE

A Word Edgewise

Most of you have probably been too busy trying to conserve your standard of living to notice what your self-anointed leaders have been up to. Despite the fact that President Ford's reaction to the recession has made the late Herbert Hoover look like a manic radical, despite the fact that the latest authoritative explanation for renewed inflation is that it is "psychological" — that is, all in your heads — it has been determined by right-wing oracles that you are "Conservatives."

If you can no longer afford the movies and the TV is busted, you might find the present rain dance, as performed by William F. Buckley, William Rusher, and various other town-hall players such as Gov. Meldrim Thomson of New Hampshire, almost as entertaining as an antique western on the Late Late Show.

First, you would probably like to know why you are Conservatives. On its face, this would seem a bit difficult to prove, but the gist of the argument is that in 1974 you gave the Conservative ticket of Nixon and Agnew an almost unprecedented majority over the Democratic candidates McGovern and Shriver. Through a series of misfortunes, which can be glossed over quickly, Nixon and Agnew retired from Conservative leadership, and were replaced by Gerald Ford and Nelson Rockefeller. And here was the rub: Ford and Rockefeller were not really Conservatives. They were clandestine liberals who rapidly lost the support of authentic rightwingers like yourself.

With this major premise firmly locked in place, the rest is easy. The reason polls indicate that around 50-60 percent of the populace think Ford is doing a mediocre-to-bad job as President is that he has sold the pass to the liberal establishment, and capitulated to the liberal media which, as is well known, takes its orders from that left-wing politburo, the Council on Foreign Relations.

So far, all this strenuous rain-making has produced is a drizzle of Ronald Reagan literature. The former California governor is seen as the man who can end your alienation, who can consolidate the massive silent majority of Goldwater and Wallace supporters into a meaningful political experience. "Reagan" may be a potent "mantra," that is, if you say it to yourself a thousand times a day, you may achieve inner peace. But in terms of Anen politics the road these mystics have charted leads to Death Valley. If you don't believe me, ask Barry Goldwater — he took the trip.

As usual, the problem is the premise, the notion that Nixon got elected on a tidal wave of Conservative sentiment. To believe this is comparable to accepting Johnson's 1964 landslide as a triumph of liberalism.

Now it is hardly my business to coach the Republican party — they have Kevin Phillips in vigorous form. Moreover, if the Democrats run a committee for President in '76 — as now seems possible — the GOP could walk off with the prize. But this has virtually nothing to do with "conservatism" or "liberalism" as abstractions. And anyone who thinks that a Presidential election is an examination in political theory should take refuge in a think-tank and let serious people handle the business of hand.

So far, all this strenuous rain-making has produced is a drizzle of Ronald Reagan literature. The former California governor is seen as the man who can end your alienation, who can consolidate the massive silent majority of Goldwater and Wallace supporters into a meaningful political experience. "Reagan" may be a potent "mantra," that is, if you say it to yourself a thousand times a day, you may achieve inner peace. But in terms of Anen politics the road these mystics have charted leads to Death Valley. If you don't believe me, ask Barry Goldwater — he took the trip.

POINTS TO CONSIDER WHEN BUYING A FARM:

The kind of farm cooperative is a major consideration when deciding on buying a farm. This will determine to a great degree the location you will settle on, based on soil type, elevation, buildings and facilities, as well as markets. For instance, if it is true fruit you are interested in, you will want to look for that area with good air drainage, as well as to make it as frost free as possible. However, if blueberries are your preference, you will then look for land where the soil is strongly acid and the water table reasonably high. Should dairying be your specialty, it will be advantageous to get a farm with available facilities so that it will not be necessary to make major building changes before you can be in business.

Another very important factor to consider is how large an operation you want. If you want to be highly mechanized, you will need more acreage than if you plan to do much of the harvest by hand. If you want to have a 300 cow dairy farm, you will need more land for feed production than if you were planning for a 50 cow herd.

A third and very important factor is how big a debt load you want to carry. Talk to Beles and help to determine the size of farm you plan to buy. Check out the availability of funds before you go too far.

Family goals should not be overlooked because the farm must produce the income to meet these goals. Also determine if the farm is to be a full-time or a part-time operation.

Specialty farms that raise such crops as strawberries and vegetables require an added input — irrigation. Therefore water availability would need to be considered for such farms.

If a prospective buyer is not acquainted in the area it will pay to visit around. Talk to some of the neighbors where the farm is located. They will let you know what conditions are like. Seek out the services and supply businesses that serve the neighborhood. They also can be of a great help in learning about the area. Make your acquaintance with the Cooperative Extension Service Agents that work in the County. They can be very helpful in acquainting a prospective buyer with the agricultural conditions in that particular community.

Finally, when you begin to look for a farm, contact Ida Jones at Berrien Real Estate Service, 925-1200. She has all types of farms from one acre to 100. When you have decided upon a particular farm, she will work out all the details. Then it is time to move in and get established in new surroundings.

Marine Building Tops Permits In Coloma Township

COLOMA — Eleven building permits for $85,975 in construction were issued during August by Richard Pearson, Coloma township building inspector.

Included was a permit for a 60 by 228-foot metal pole building, issued to Kinyon's Marine, Paw Paw Lake road, for a retail marine and storage building, estimated cost, $38,000.

Other permits were issued to John Jansen, contractor, for John Powers, Lakewood point, a two-story, 16 by 42-foot addition, $18,000.

Barbara Hinkelman, Becht road, home addition, $4,000.

Coloma Rod and Gun club, Mountain road, addition to caretaker's premises, $1,400.

Joseph Motto, Paw Paw Lake road, remodeling, $1,200.

Clifford Bryant, Shore drive, addition to existing attached garage, $1,000.

John Sorfleet, Lakewood point, garage, $2,000.

Francis Buck, Becht road, metal storage building, $500.

George Johnson, Lake Shore drive, metal storage shed, $575.

Lawrence Hupe, Lake drive, metal storage building, $150.

Allen Beebe, Woods street, storage building, $150.

DETROIT (Jan. 5, 1837) — The Michigan legislature today received a plan for free public education from Superintendent of Public Instruction Dr. John Pierce.

The plan, over two years in the making, will now be studied by the legislature.

The basic idea for a centralized educational system follows a recently published study of the Prussian educational structure.

Dr. Pierce noted the main points of the plan: "When admitted to this Union, as we daily expect, we will have the only statewide department of education, under a superintendent whose sole concern is education."

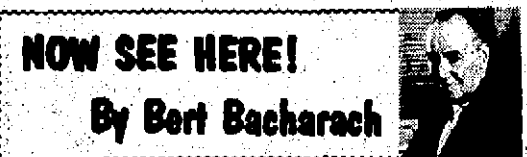

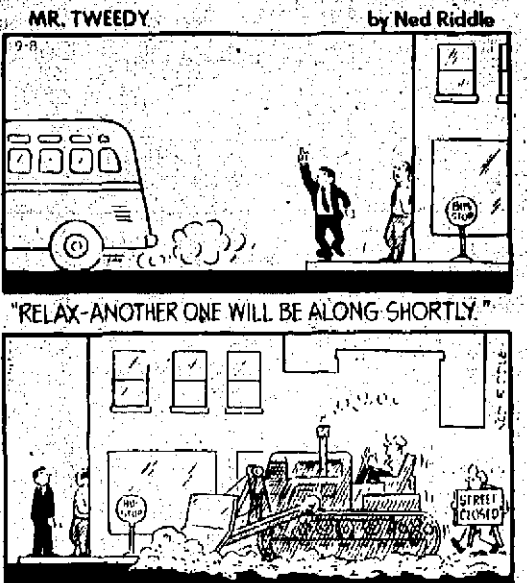

Pierce added that state funding and a library in each district are two other unprecedented elements of the plan, as proposed.

When asked about state control, Pierce replied "continuance of a republic such as ours depends on educating all of our citizens. This can only be done through a free system of state-supported education, of good quality and open to all, rich and poor."

Congressman-elect Isaac Crary was instrumental in helping devise this unique educational plan.

"The new Constitution provided the main features of the system — a state superintendent, state school funding, provision for a university, and for district libraries," he said.

Crary added "Here in Washington, although not yet a member of Congress, I was allowed to help draft the Articles of Admission which assured congressional approval of those provisions."

KITCHEN-SNOOPING: To cook an acorn squash in a hurry, slice it crosswise and bake on a cookie sheet with a little butter and brown sugar. It takes but a few minutes and the slices are attractive (Rene Pujol Restaurant, NYC). . . . For crispier French fries, wrap wet potato strips in a terry towel a half hour before dunking them in 375 degree hot vegetable oil. (L.A.'s Bantam Cock). . . . Squeeze lemon juice over chicken curry for a zip-pler flavor (Gaylord India, NYC).

FADED PHRASES: "She's a peachero," "He's tough as shoe leather" and "She stood stock still." . . . Frank Gorshin sighs: "Kids are deductions — but taxing?" . . . Bob Fosse used "only the sexiest chorus gals in his 'Chicago' TV-commercial. (He's just a male chauvinist director — writer — choreographer!). . . . "The Wiz" started slow at the box office when it opened, "but it is now one of Broadway's hottest tickets. (Moral: If at first you don't succeed, win seven Tony Awards!). . . . Brains & Beauty"

Two of the gorgeous nudes in the August Playboy and Qui magazines are editors of the same publications — Kim Komar of the former, and Sharon O'Hara of the latter. . . . Barbara Cariera stars as Eula in "The Master Gunfighter." (Eula like her a lot). . . . Sandwich Favorite of Hugh O'Brian: Tuna fish, chopped onion, chopped celery and mayonnaise, laced with lime juice, on toasted rye. . . . Helpful Hint: Rub dry baking soda into your dog's coat when you can't take the time for a tub bath. Brush through long hairs for deodorant protection.

Allegan Girl Wins Harvest Queen Title

By TOM RENNER
South Haven Correspondent

ALLEGAN — Seventeen-year-old Amy Wellman was crowned Allegan County Harvest Queen Saturday night before a near-capacity grandstand audience on the opening night of the Allegan county fair.

Miss Wellman, the reigning Miss Allegan, was selected from seven contestants.

It is the second straight year that judges have selected Miss Allegan as harvest queen. Last year's winner, Julie Beckers, went on to win the Miss Michigan pageant. Julie was not able to crown her successor Saturday night because she was competing in the Miss America pageant in Atlantic City, N.J.

The new queen is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. William Wellman, route 7, Allegan. A senior at Allegan high school, she is a member of the National Honor society, is class vice president, a cheerleader and a member of the tennis team.

Her talent presentation was a vocal solo of Don McLean's Castles in the Air. She accompanied herself on the piano.

Miss Wellman would like to pursue a teaching career in physical education or recreation. She has four sisters and two brothers.

First runnerup was Sandi Snyder, 18, the reigning Miss Wayland. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Snyder, route 1, Wayland and a 1975 graduate of Wayland Union high school.

Second runnerup was Cynthia Nicolai, 17, the reigning Miss Martin. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Nicolai, route 1, Shelbyville and is a junior at Martin high school.

The new queen was crowned by Karen Sebright of Hopkins, last year's first runnerup in the Harvest Queen pageant who substituted for Miss Beckers.

Judges were Fran Harding, former hostess of the WKZO-TV show Accent; Frank Quartermaine, executive director of the Miss Battle Creek pageant; Marla Main, field director for Miss Michigan Scholarship pageants; Steve Suhr, owner of Central Sewing in Kalamazoo; and Jack De Waard, a former radio announcer and owner of a recording studio in Holland.

General chairman of the pageant and master of ceremonies was Jerry Richlich.

The winner received a $350 scholarship and $150 cash prize while the first runnerup was presented a $150 scholarship and $100 cash, the second runnerup a $75 scholarship and $75 cash and other contestants $50 cash.

Other contestants included Kathy Russell, Miss Plainwell; Jan Myers, Miss Fennville; Maurine Conti, Miss Saugatuck-Douglas; and Karen Wright, Miss Hopkins.

More Crew Leaders Charged

The U.S. Department of Labor has brought charges of violations of the Farm Labor Contractor Registration act against five more crew leaders at the head of migrant worker groups harvesting crops in southwestern Michigan.

The charges were filed in federal district court at Grand Rapids. In each case, the court was asked to permanently enjoin the defendants from further violations of the act. No damages were asked against the crew leaders.

Eleven leaders of migrant crews were charged earlier with similar violations of the federal act, according to an announcement made last week by the labor departments. All violations were alleged to have taken place earlier in the current harvest season.

The five crew leaders against whom complaints were reported this week are: Gregorio Huerta, Stanley Piggott farm, Benton Harbor; Julian Flores, Walter Schaeffer farm,odus; Ernest Enrriquez, Phil Damico farm, Benton Harbor; Alejandro Flores, Clayton Layman farm, Berrien Center; and James Ellis, Robert Froehlich farm, Berrien Center.

Huerta and Julian Flores were charged with transporting migrant workers while failing to provide proof of financial responsibility and failing to identify the vehicles used to insure their conformance with safety and health standards; failing to obtain a certificate of registration; failing to inform workers of terms and conditions of employment, and failing to post a written statement of such terms and conditions.

The other three leaders were charged with failing to inform migrant workers of the terms and conditions of employment and failing to post such terms and conditions in a conspicuous place.

Nilesite's Fire Injuries Critical

NILES — A 19-year-old Niles man was burned critically in an explosion and fire that firemen here said did an estimated $18,000 damage to a home at 1803 Howard street early yesterday morning.

Burned was James Thompson, 1408 Merrifield street, Niles. He is hospitalized at the burn center at the University of Michigan hospital at Ann Arbor. Niles police said Thompson told officers the explosion occurred about 3 a.m. when he accidentally kicked over a gas can in the home's basement, spilling gas over the floor.

Police said they are not sure yet what ignited the fumes.

Firemen said they found Thompson lying on the lawn of the residence with burns over 50 to 75 per cent of his body. He was taken to Pawtucket hospital, Niles, for treatment and later transferred to the burn center in Ann Arbor.

Firemen said damage to the interior of the house, owned by J.F. Phillip of Niles, was extensive. Both firemen and police said investigation of the blaze is continuing.

The home had been rented, police said, by Larry Biggs.

Thompson told officers he was caring for Biggs' dog while Biggs was out of town.

BOAT ATTACKED

TOKYO (AP) — Soviet patrol boats apparently strafed and captured a 99-ton Japanese fishing boat with nine crewmen off the southern tip of Sakhalin island today, the Maritime Safety Agency reported.

DEDICATION PLANNED: Dedication ceremonies for new office of South Haven Chamber of Commerce will be held Thursday at 6 p.m. Building, located on Quaker street across from South Haven city hall, is first permanent home for chamber which had been in five different locations over past seven years. Mayor Elizabeth Davis and Miss South Haven, Linda Schultz will cut ribbon officially opening building. An open house for community will follow. (Tom Renner photo)

River Valley Swamps Building Plan

THREE OAKS — River Valley school district voters Saturday defeated by a lopsided margin a proposed $3,375,000 bond issue that would have financed construction of a new middle school and renovation of four other school buildings.

The unofficial count was 1,047 to 622, according to school officials.

Dr. Charles Williams, the superintendent, said the board will issue a statement on the defeat at tonight's scheduled board meeting.

School officials said 1,677 people voted, or about 30.8 per cent of the district's 5,436 registered voters. There were eight spoiled ballots.

The proposed new middle school, for grades five through eight, would have replaced junior high schools at Three Oaks (built in 1921) and New Troy (built in 1928).

In addition, the bond issue would have financed new equipment for the River Valley high school and renovation at elementary schools at New Troy, Three Oaks and Chikaming campuses.

Passage would have required an additional 3.4-mill property tax boost next year that would have hiked the district's overall levy to 29.836 mills. The district's levy last year was 24.237.

Berrien Jail Trusty Free For 8 Hours

A Berrien county jail trusty who walked away from the jail early Sunday was captured in a Benton Harbor park a little more than eight hours after he disappeared.

Robert Lee Campbell, 24, of 2237 Butler drive, Benton Heights, who was serving a one-year sentence for an earlier escape, was reported missing at 6:40 a.m. He was apprehended in Hall park, near the intersection of Valley drive and Highland avenue about 3:20 p.m.

It was the second walk away from the jail, 919 Port street, St.

Joseph, within a month. Donald L. Carlock, 33, of 1575 Agard avenue, Benton Harbor, walked away from the jail Aug. 9. He was also a trusty at the jail. Carlock is still at large, according to the Berrien sheriff's department.

Campbell last May walked away during a sentencing on another charge in Fifth District court, in the Berrien courthouse, St. Joseph. Deputies did not indicate what led up to Campbell's capture. He was not booked for this second escape.

Foes Of Sheriff Claim Harassment

By TOM RENNER
South Haven Correspondent

ALLEGAN — Two people who are prime movers in a petition drive to recall Allegan Sheriff Robert Whitcomb from office said they were detained for nearly an hour Saturday by sheriff's deputies and threatened with arrest for seeking signatures from people attending the Allegan county fair here. Gary DeGraff and George Kimball said they were detained in a sheriff's department building on the fairgrounds after deputies stopped them from obtaining signatures from people at an animal building.

The two said they were released after agreeing to pay $100 to rent space in the commercial exhibit area. They also said they signed a document releasing the fair from any liability that might be incurred during their effort to have petitions signed.

Sheriff Whitcomb was unavailable for comment this morning, according to deputies.

Approximately 5,300 signatures are needed to force a recall election. DeGraff said he expected to collect between 8,000 and 9,000 signatures, noting that response from people attending the fair has been "tremendous."

South Haven Police Seek Driver Of Car

SOUTH HAVEN — City police said early today that the driver of a car which crashed while being pursued by three city police cars in a high speed chase early yesterday had not yet been taken into custody.

Police said the driver, identified by them as a Dana Claassen, 21, route 3, South Haven, fled on foot after the crash. Two passengers were found in the wreckage.

According to police, warrants charging reckless driving, eluding police and leaving the scene of an accident have been authorized against the driver by the Van Buren prosecutor's office.

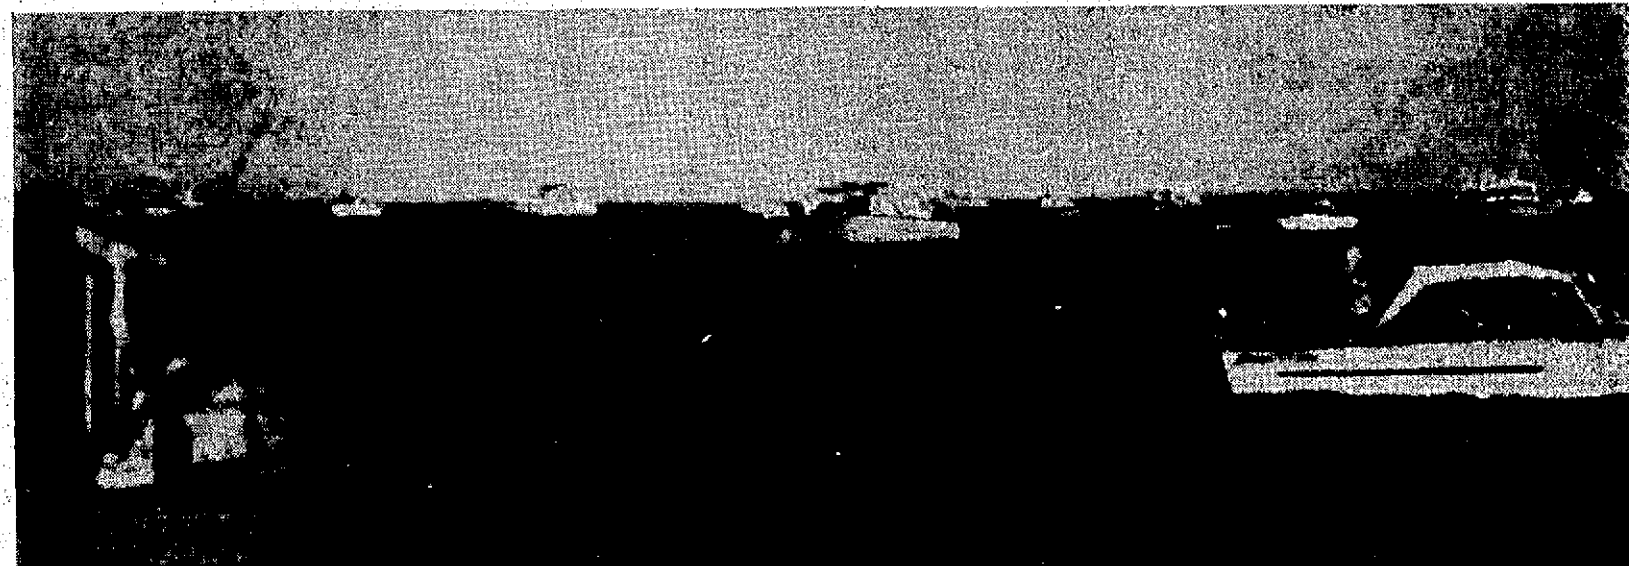

Police said the chase started about 4 a.m. when a South Haven officer observed a car traveling through the central business district at a high rate of speed.

The chase, which reached 100 miles per hour, ended approximately four miles later when the car went out of control on Blue Star Memorial highway near 14th avenue and 70th street.

The passengers, Virginia Knarian, 17, and John Cochran, 19, both of South Haven, were released after giving police statements. Both complained of minor injuries, but did not require medical attention.

Van Buren Red Cross Dinner

SOUTH HAVEN — The 58th annual Van Buren county Red Cross dinner meeting will be held Tuesday, Oct. 7, at the Red Carpet restaurant, M-140 south of South Haven, according to Vivian LeMay, executive secretary. The dinner meeting is open to the public at a cost of $3.50 per person. Reservations must be in by Tuesday, Sept. 26, by calling Van Buren county Red Cross chapter headquarters in Paw Paw.

FISHING FEVER: Traffic jam of boats in Lake Michigan just off St. Joseph piers signals that fall spawning run of salmon is in full swing. Salmon already have been reported as far up St. Joseph river as Berrien Springs dam. This year fish will be able to go on to Buchanan because of new fish ladder at the dam. Many chinook salmon in the 20-30 pound range have been caught and good-sized coho, brown trout

NEWS OF MARKETS

Stock Trading Is Quiet

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market, still waiting out developments in the effort to resolve New York City's financial troubles, was narrowly mixed in quiet trading today.

The opening Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was about unchanged from Friday's close, and losers took a slight lead over gainers on the New York Stock Exchange.

A special session of the New York State Legislature was due to resume today, with legislative proposals to deal with the city's money problems still pending.

Today's early prices included Colgate-Palmolive, down 1/4 at 55 1/2; Sony, up 1/4 at 10 1/4; J.P. Stevens, down 1/4 at 15 1/4; and Scovill Manufacturing, down 3/4 at 9.

On Friday the Dow Jones industrial average declined 2.34 to 638.97, winding up the week with a token net gain of 43.

Declines outnumbered advances by about a 5-3 margin on the NYSE, and the exchange's composite index lost 30 to 45.93.

Big Board volume was a sluggish 11.88 million shares.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index dropped 39 to 85.45.

Hot Plate Blamed For Boat Fire

Fire on a boat docked in Whispering Willows marina, 2383 Niles road, St. Joseph township, caused minor damage to the interior of the boat Sunday, according to Berrien sheriff's deputies.

Owner of the 32-foot cabin cruiser was listed as Roy Wiest, but no address was given. He was not present when a hot plate apparently set boat curtains on fire, deputies reported, and added boat owners in the area extinguished the fire with portable fire extinguishers.

Reports said the 5:30 p.m. fire caused damage to electrical wiring and the boat's interior had some smoke damage.

Suspected 'Pot' Found In Buchanan

BUCHANAN — Police here said they found about a pound of suspected marijuana in a speaker cabinet in the back of a pickup truck parked on West Fourth street last night.

A 16-year-old Phoenix, Ariz., juvenile boy, who told officers he was operator of the truck, was taken into custody and later released to the custody of Buchanan relatives, police said.

Police said they spotted the suspected marijuana sticking out from a hole in back of the speaker cabinet after observing several youths around the back of the truck.

Police said a report of their investigation would be turned over to the Berrien county prosecutor's office.

Iran Will Get Price Increase

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi said today that the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries will increase the price of crude oil this month enough to give Iran oil revenues for 1975 of nearly $2 billion.

Earlier estimates in Tehran said a 12 per cent drop in production in the first half of the year would cut earnings to as low as $1.6 billion, a drop of $5 billion from last year.

NINETEEN DIE

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Christians and Muslims battled around Tripoli, Lebanon's second largest city, today as the Lebanese cabinet went into emergency session in Beirut.

A police spokesman said at least 19 persons were killed and 26 were wounded Sunday.

Housing Industry Looks To American Ingenuity

DOCTORATE: Derrick L. Proctor, Assistant Professor of Psychology and a staff member since 1960 at Andrews University, Berrien Springs, has received his doctorate in psychology from Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind. His study was titled "Students' Perception of the High School Environment as Related to Moral Reasoning."

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — If you continue to have faith in our ability to innovate and work hard then you still might have confidence that our housing predicament will be resolved in the near future.

Right now it's a tight knot, and nobody seems to be able to untie it — not the government nor the builder nor the lender nor the potential home buyer.

Interest rates are high, so are land and labor and materials costs, and so of course are prices. Depending upon the estimate you use, the median price of the typical one-family house today ranges from $37,000 to $41,000.

When you consider that the median family income is less than $13,000, you realize immediately that hundreds of thousands of potential buyers are simply priced out of the market. Relatively few Americans can afford a new house. Instead, they are forced to rent. But with interest rates to apartment house builders back up to 10 per cent, after decline during the spring and early summer, that type of construction is in the doldrums.

This, of course, is a terrible and complex situation that has vast consequences for the economy. It is fair to ask, in fact, how the economy can move ahead with housing and automotive industries depressed. But it is at times such as these, judging by the past, that Americans demonstrate their ingenuity. Will the challenge be met? So far it hasn't been, but that doesn't mean efforts aren't being made.

Among the innovations: —The National Association of Home Builders now offers warranties on new homes, and the National Association of Realtors is developing a program for warranties on new and used homes.

Under the home builders' plan, called the Home Owners Warranty Program, registered builders can provide a 10-year protection package on new home construction.

Lenders are attempting to develop more flexible mortgages. So far the biggest development has been the variable rate mortgage, which still hasn't obtained federal approval nor, in fact, the acceptance of the home-buying public.

Under a variable rate mortgage the financing cost to the buyer would rise or fall depending upon economic conditions, rather than remaining the same for the entire 20- or 30-year life of the mortgage.

The assumption made is that the lender will be more willing to commit money to mortgage loans if he is thus protected from abrupt shifts in future money costs.

—Stating that the single-family house on its own plot has become a luxury too expensive for most people, many builders now are clustering their houses and offering home-owners a common green area.

Rather than breaking up a development into small, separate building lots, the builder groups his houses together on a few lots and leaves the remainder open — for use as playgrounds or park areas.

—Some builders are leaving their lots and houses unfinished, the assumption being that a family possessing some skills can finish off the property by its own efforts.

Attics remain unfinished but with rooms and bath roughed in. The kitchen might not have built-in appliances. The walls may be unpainted, the floors unfinished.

These are only a few of the innovations being tested now.

Once we thought the answer was to build houses in factories. That failed. What next? And can we do it?

School Strike End Near

ST. CLAIR SHORES, Mich. (AP) — Bargainers in the Lake Shore school district reached a tentative contract agreement early today in the only remaining teacher strike in Michigan. A ratification vote was set for later in the day on a two-year pact covering 385 teachers. Officials said school for the 8,000 students would begin Tuesday, one week after classes were scheduled to open. Although Lake Shore is the only Michigan district on strike, more than 100 districts do not yet have contracts for the current academic year. Teachers are working while negotiations continue. Some 1,050 teachers in the Taylor district in Wayne County voted Sunday by a 3-1 margin to approve a contract agreement, ending a strike which began Tuesday. The vote sent 22,000 students back to class today.

NEW REGISTRATION HOURS

This fall we are initiating REGISTRATION HOURS in an effort to streamline our procedure and make the best use of the good volunteers who do the work. We hope that by condensing registration into certain hours we can more efficiently serve you.

REGISTRATION HOURS:

Tues., Wed., Thurs., Sept. 9, 10, 11 — 9 am - 1 pm and 4 pm - 8 pm

Sat., Sept. 13 — 10 am - 2 pm

You may also register by mail using the blank at the bottom of this page.

PAYMENT OF FEES

Your membership must be current unless you choose to pay the higher non-member class fee. At least half of the class fee must be paid at time of registration, with the balance due by the first day of class unless some other financial arrangements are made. Refunds or credits may be issued by the director of the department concerned only in cases of extreme illness, if you move from the community or we cancel the class. Memberships are not refundable.

CLASS FOR FALL TERM BEGIN WEEK OF SEPT. 15, 1975 UNLESS OTHERWISE NOTED.
